'IT ISN'T TAXES THAT BREAKS US, IT'S DUES'—ROGERS

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., May 3.—That Chamber of Commerce

of the United States that is in session in Washington now is running true to Chamber of Commerce form. They have the maximum of objections with all the minimum of remedies for all our national ills. Of all the things that this country is suffering from, the greatest is overproduction of organizations organized to help somebody that don't need the help as bad as the organization itself. It's not taxes that keeps us flat. It's dues. When a failure, form something. When the judgment day comes, half of America will be on their way to some convention and the other half will be signing application blanks.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa New observes that city employees have started the task of painting the curbing along prohibited areas in the parking district downtown. New lines for pedestrian traffic at street intersections in the downtown district will also be renewed.

Members of the city engineering forces were surveying the curve on Butler avenue, near the old Genkens home which is to be widened and banked. The curve is very abrupt and a danger spot for automobile traffic.

Many new flowers and blossoms have appeared with the warm weather of the past few days. If the present weather continues, there should be a bounteous supply of flowers for Memorial day.

Traffic signal light at the corner of Park and Highland seems to operate on rather an uncertain schedule at night. Some nights it is turned off early and at other times it is burning late at night.

With Saturday night traffic congestion growing denser and denser every Saturday night, it would be a good idea if New Castle residents could leave the car at home on Saturday night, if they do not live too far from the business centres.

Pa New is still inclined to believe that the intersection of Lincoln and Highland avenues should be named Cathedral Place.

During the next few days Pa New and the rest of the New family will have to get on their company manners. On Sunday, Monday and Tuesday there will be a host of Lions from all parts of the state in New Castle and we have the task of maintaining our traditional reputation as a convention city. Make the Lions feel welcome.

North hill residents were given a real delight by Howard Phillips' garbage collection department this morning when a round up was made on some of the streets collecting the recent accumulation of tin cans.

Go to church tomorrow!

Washington and the Shenandoah Valley may have had their cherry and apple blossom time, but New Castle and Lawrence county are just now coming into their own in this respect. The farms and city properties in many places are resplendent with blossoms.

The two bus loads of high school students who went to Pittsburgh Friday evening, surely was a happy crowd as they left the city.

Finding a place to park an auto last night was one real job, take it (Continued On Page Two)

Control

INQUIRY BOARD
MAKES REPORT

Believe Decision Reached That Fire Started From
Defective Wiring

(International News Service)
COLUMBUS, O., May 3.—Still sullen and stubborn—though submissive to the military rule invoked—convicts at Ohio penitentiary slowly were resuming normal work here today.

National Guardsmen remain in rigid control of the State prison, where the fire of undetermined origin resulted in the deaths of 320 convicts 12 days ago.

With quietude extant and with indications that not even a minor disturbance is likely to occur again, Ohioans today focused their attention on reports which had been made as to the cause of the recent penitentiary holocaust.

Defective Wiring
The official board of inquiry which was directed by Attorney General Gilbert Bettman rendered its report to Governor Myers Y. Cooper late Friday. Its opinion was that the conflagration resulted in all probability, from defective wiring.

Almost simultaneously, the chief executive received a report from investigators of State Fire Marshal Ray R. Gill, who held that the prison fire was of an incendiary nature.

Fire Marshal Gill's deputies based their opinion on information which they "couldn't submit at this time," adding that their conclusion still necessitated "considerable checking."

Reviewing the reports, Governor Cooper issued a statement, declaring "there must be complete rehabilitation of the physical plant, making it (the penitentiary) completely fire-proof and secure."

WASHINGTON, May 3.—President Hoover's power over the Republican organization of the House faced a test today as the export debenture plan of farm relief and Senate flexible tariff provisions neared a vote.

Both proposals, written into the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill by the Senate, have been denounced by Mr. Hoover. They are the only major propositions on which he has taken an open stand during the year-long tariff battle.

Rejection Demand
Rejection of the Senate provisions was demanded by Rep. Hawley (R) of Oregon, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, while Democratic leaders were fighting to keep both.

Confidence of the administration leaders was somewhat shaken as a result of the uprising in the House which sent the sugar tariff to the lowest possible rate, two cents, as (Continued On Page Two)

Morrow Refuses Post In Senate

Dwight W. Morrow Has Turned Down Offer To Be Appointed U.
S. Senator

WOULD PREFER TO WIN NOMINATION

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 3.—Dwight W. Morrow announced here today that he would not accept the senatorial appointment offered him by Gov. Morgan F. Larson of New Jersey, but would instead prepare for his campaign for the Republican senatorial nomination in the New Jersey primary of June 17.

Morrow said that the platform upon which he will base his campaign will probably be announced within the next two weeks. Although his statement contained no reference to the prohibition or other issue, it is expected that he will take a position of opposing the present prohibition system.

Ambassador Morrow will not return to Mexico City before the primary, he said.

In the primary, he will oppose Ex-Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, who has recently come into prohibition after years of advocating the dry cause. A lively contest is in prospect.

The Morrow statement today was issued after several days of conferences here with political advisers. By remaining out of the senate for the balance of this session, Morrow will avoid a vote on the tariff and the prohibition reform legislation which President Hoover has insisted that congress enact before adjournment.

Plan To Start Consideration Of Treaty Monday

Old Bogey Of "Senate Reservations" Is Making Its
Re-appearance

PRESIDENT WANTS
NO PACT CHANGES

Committees Of Senate To

Next Week

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The bogey of "Senate reservations" to the London Naval Treaty appeared on the scene today to worry administration leaders as interested senators put the provisions of the document under searching analysis.

Neither President Hoover nor Secretary of State Stimson want any reservations to the treaty. The administration wants the Senate to ratify it "without the dotting of an 'i' or the crossing of a 't'." Whether this can be accomplished remains to be seen, but every effort is to be exerted toward that end.

To Start Consideration
Active consideration of the treaty will begin Monday when Senator Hale's committee on naval affairs begins hearings. American naval experts who sat in at the London conference will be examined as well as those who stayed at home. On Wednesday, Senator Borah's foreign relations committee also will begin hearings.

Chicago Girl Is Severely Wounded, Young Man Suicides

Spurned Lover Shoots Girl
Friend And Then Turns
Gun Upon Himself

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, May 3.—Because she insisted on ending their love affair Sally Kuta, 17, lies dying in a hospital here today and Arthur Brown, 22, her sweetheart, is dead.

Brown, jealous because she was being turned away in favor of a rival, shot the girl last night when they met for a farewell tryst in the Rose Gardens of Humboldt Park. She fell with a bullet through her chest and Brown then turned the gun on himself. He died on the way to a hospital.

In Brown's pocket was found a note which read: "This is my last chance to win her. If you never see me again, you will know I have failed."

Accident Ends His Sunday School Attendance Record

When Sunday school convenes at the Central Christian church on Loag avenue Sunday morning, it will be the first time in 19 years that Earl McCormick of 1010 Beckford street has not been in his accustomed place.

Earl is occupying a bed in the Jameson Memorial hospital, where he was taken following an accident on Thursday afternoon when he fell and injured his back while at work for the Pennsylvania Power company. It will be impossible for him to get out to attend Sunday school Sunday but officers of the school are trying to make arrangements so that Earl can be counted present.

No matter what the weather, or how he felt, he has always been present at Sunday school and has always been on time. Once previously he suffered an illness, which confined him to his home for almost three months, but he never missed attending the Sunday school class if only long enough to be marked present. This was against the advice of the attending physician, and often it would be necessary to call the doctor to administer treatment as soon as he had returned home, but he was determined that his record would not be tarnished.

If Earl could get on his feet there is no doubt but that he would attempt to get out and go to his class Sunday, but the injury to his back will prevent that. Despite the fact that he is suffering considerable pain, the fact that he will not be out at Sunday school tomorrow hurts more than the physical pain he is suffering.

Rejection For Parker Certain

Poll Taken By News Service
Shows 48 Senators Ready To Cast Rejection
Votes

TEMPORARY TRUCE
OVER WEEK END

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, May 3.—The fight to keep Judge John J. Parker off the United States supreme court settled on Capitol Hill today even though a week-end recess brought a temporary truce to senate debate.

The late of Parker appeared settled with the senate ready to reject his pressure was being exerted from the White House and in administration circles to secure a favorable vote. The President was reported remaining in Washington over the week end, foregoing his usual fishing trip to nearby Virginia in order to confer with those looked upon as probable converts to the Parker cause.

The International News Service poll though revealed 48 senators definitely pledged against Parker. This was exactly enough to reject the nomination, since one senator—McMaster (R) of S. D.—either will not vote at all or will be paired against Parker. Without McMaster, 48 votes would be a majority of the senate. The Parker adherents had 44 definite votes, with three senators still reported as doubtful. The latter was Brock (D) of Tenn., Thomas (R) of Ida., and King (D) of Utah. If all three supported Parker, the nominee would be rejected by a single vote.

The throng of visitors from widely scattered points will begin to pour into the city on Sunday afternoon and will continue arriving up until late Monday. The convention will be in session until Tuesday night.

Tomorrow's advance guard contingent will bring state and international leaders of Lions International as well as a large number of delegates of the different clubs. However, club leaders here expressed the belief today that by far the larger number will not come to the city until Monday, and the majority perhaps during the morning hours, so they may be present for the opening convention luncheon at noon that day.

PLAN TO START CONSIDERATION OF TREATY MONDAY

at London, will be the first witness before Hale's committee, it was announced today. He will be followed by the experts.

As a result of the 48 hours which various Senators have had to study the text of the treaty, it is already apparent that the questioning attitude of the Senate will center about two sections (1) the apparent sacrifice of the 8 inch cruiser policy insisted upon at Geneva, and, (2) the so-called escalator clause under which Britain, the United States and Japan may increase their building above the specified limits in order to match building by non-treaty powers such as France and Italy.

Needs Clarification
In the opinion of some of the treaty critics, this latter clause needs considerable clarification.

As drawn, it permits a treaty power to increase its allotment of vessels in any category when "menaced" by the building of a non-treaty power. The other treaty powers would then be permitted to build commensurately within that same category.

Suppose, say the senate critics, that France proceeds to build up a great submarine fleet. As she has evidenced every intention of doing. As the destroyers was found during the war to be the best defense against under-sea craft, Britain decides she needs 50,000 more tons of destroyers to meet this "menace" at her back door.

The United States is notified of Britain's intention and is left free to follow suit if it so desires. But 150,000 tons of destroyers constitute about all this class of vessel that the American navy can use to advantage. What the American navy needs, with its enormous distances between coaling stations and bases, is 8 inch cruisers. But under the interpretation of the treaty only destroyers, which America does not need, could be built.

There, say the treaty critics, goes the much discussed parity with Great Britain. There are few who believe that Congress would authorize the building of unneeded destroyers merely to keep pace with Great Britain when the real need of the navy is powerful cruisers.

It is of course, a supposititious case, but all such cases are going to be carefully considered before the Senate consents to the ratification of the treaty.

The administration fears the effect of any senate reservations abroad. The treaty was born only after long labor and delicate surgery. Any senate reservations, according to administration officials, may yet kill it. Therefore, the administration will leave no stone unturned to secure ratification "as is." But a critical senate, jealous of its constitutional prerogatives, may yet decree otherwise.

STAR LORE FEELING THE BIGNESS OF THE HEAVENLY BODIES

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

Another element of the big observer of the universe must learn to feel the size of the physical heavenly bodies. Many people go through life without giving any careful thought to the dimensions of the world on which we live. Such thoughts are not necessary to existence, of course, but they form the background for any rational thought about man's relation to universal realities. The feel of the physical mass of the stars is a striking sensation. To think of the sun as being a body a little less than 1,000,000 miles in diameter and 1,300,000 times the volume of the earth is more sensational than a thrilling movie.

HOOVER'S POWER IN HOUSE TO GET TEST IN TARIFF

fixed by the Senate, and placed lumber and shingles on a free list. With renewed hopes, the Democratic leaders opened to Republican members of the "Farm Bloc" to support the Senate plan of paying an export bounty on farm products which is estimated to cost $150,000,000 a year.

"Farm Bloc" Divided
The "Farm Bloc" however, was divided, and backers of the de-benture were faced with the House vote against it on the farm relief bill last year.

House administration leaders were standing firm by their own flexible tariff provisions, under which the president is given power to raise or lower duties on recommendation of the tariff commission.

The Senate plan is to make the tariff commission a fact finding body, and retain all tariff-making power in Congress.

Mr. Hoover has criticized the de-benture plan, declaring it would promote overproduction and defeat the co-operative marketing plan given to the farmers by Congress.

The flexible tariff plan of the Senate, he has declared, would keep the tariff question continually before Congress and in politics.

The House action on sugar and lumber brought forth speculation as to what would have happened to the tariff bill had complete freedom of amendment been allowed in that body.

When the bill original was passed, opposition was smothered under a rule which gave the Ways and Means Committee complete command of the situation. As a result of criticism of "gag rule" House leaders decided to allow votes on cement, sugar, shingles, lumber and silver. In every case the House chose the lowest rate possible, but did strike out the Bease amendment which would have nullified the cement tariff.

Make Progress In Census Of Distribution

EXPECT TO FINISH TASK ABOUT JUNE 1

Work of taking the census of distribution and manufacture here is making good progress and will be completed about June 1, James R. Long, who is in charge of the work in the district, stated today.

J. Elliott, while J. C. Blawie, Frank L. Cline, and Frank S. Blackburn are handling the task in the county.

To date 558 business firms in New Castle have been visited, while 185 in the county have filed their returns.

Slow progress was made in the work at first because of the fact that those engaged in the work were largely unfamiliar with the requirements, but after instruction from E. R. Erickson, government expert, the work has been going forward nicely and is now progressing at a rate which is expected to see the task completed by the time set by the government.

Glenn E. McQuinn has been given special concern by the business men. There was some objection from some of the business men at first, but once they understood what was wanted they were very willing to co-operate.

Any business concern which sells anything that is carried away is listed, and the different businesses are classified according to the volume of business transacted.

Where an objection is raised by merchants or business men against giving the information sought, they are furnished with a copy of the law, which states that the giving of any information requested is mandatory, and refusal to furnish the same is punishable by a fine of $500 and imprisonment. ## Wolf Pack Being Moved In Trucks

Part Of Kane Pack Being Taken To Vicinity Of Philadelphia

(International News Service)
KANE, Pa., May 3.—The word cry of a wolf pack approached one of America's greatest cities today when 25 of the only pack of Lobo wolves in the world were placed aboard trucks and taken to Gap, near Coatesville, Pa.

The wolves are from the famous collection of Dr. E. H. McClure here. The pack has grown to such proportions that recently it was decided to divide it into two groups. A high elevation near Gap was selected for the second pack.

Chambers of Commerce of several large cities in the east, including Pittsburgh, Pa., and Akron, O., made bids for the wolf pack.

The wolves are being transported in cages mounted on the trucks. There were close to 100 animals in the Kane park before the split was made.

Full grown wolves only were taken to Gap. It was decided that the cubs of Kane is more favorable for breeding purposes and that finer specimens could be raised here than down state.

Development of a hobby resulted in formation of the wolf park here and saved the Lobo, or buffalo wolf from extinction. Recently Dr. McClure was informed by the government that his wolves are the only Lobos remaining. All of the others have been killed off by wolves.

The first wolf in the pack was obtained from Wyoming in January, 1921.

The Kane physician had such success with the animal that he added more of its brothers to his collection and he now has about 100 in Kane park.

There are ten acres of land in the Gap park which fronts the Lincoln highway. The plan of the park is identical with the one here.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 3.—Fire Chief Harry Callan, 55 E. Ravenwood avenue, was the only person to report an auto theft Thursday night. The chief parked his car in Federal street, near Hazel, and someone drove it away.

There are ten acres of land in the Gap park which fronts the Lincoln highway. The plan of the park is identical with the one here.

PINCHOT SPEAKS IN CITY AT NOON

men were put back to work through my efforts. If I am elected this time I will do more than I did before to relieve the unemployment situation. If elected I expect to call the employers together and to have the state take steps to relieve the unemployment. In times like this, the state can go forward with public work that will give employment to men."

Mr. Pinchot promised that if elected he would abolish the public service commission if the legislature would pass the legislation and in its place establish a fair rate board which would elect its membership by districts over the state.

The meeting was attended by about 175 men and women who were enthusiastic in their reception of Mr. Pinchot. Attorney Charles R. Davis, chairman of the Pinchot for governor committee here, presided.

MATERIAL RESULTS

Helping to pass meritorious legislation and aiding to kill vicious legislation are important duties of a legislator but they are not the sole duties. Getting material results for his district are also important.

In the present biennium the road program in Lawrence county, paid for by the state highway department, is the most comprehensive ever secured for this city and county in any two year period.

In addition to the unusual amount of concrete highway secured, the City of New Castle got $76,000.00 for street improvements, the first time in the history of the city that this had ever been accomplished. Over and above all that, your delegation in the General Assembly brought back the $188,000.00 which had been owing since 1922, but which was thought to be forever lost.

Those things did not just happen. They were accomplished because the entire delegation was experienced and knew how to get results. In other words, experience netted this city and county $274,000.00 more than was expected.

If you believe that results like these are worth while, if you believe that this district should profit by experience, I will appreciate your vote for the General Assembly, on May 20th.

Covers were laid for forty-two at the banquet held last evening in the dining room of the First Baptist church, as the concluding feature of a membership and attendance contest staged by the class taught by Mrs. G. M. Landis. The section of the class of which Mrs. J. Allen Porte was the leader in the contest were the guests of honor, having won the contest. They were entertained by the section, the leader of which was Mrs. Roy Webster. The dining room was most attractively decorated with Japanese lanterns and varicolored effects. Flowers were used most effectively in the decoration of the banquet table and delightfully interesting favors were accorded each guest. A fine menu was served. The evening following the dinner was spent in playing games and in a social manner. Mrs. G. M. Landis, teacher of the class and Mrs. Jennie Nesbitt were special guests of the occasion.

Ladies' Scottish Club
Mrs. David Leishman of Cunningham avenue, entertained the Ladies' Scottish club, in her home Thursday at their regular meeting. A delightful evening was spent informally, with the prize being awarded Mrs. Andrew Watson.

Lunch was served at a suitable hour the hostess being assisted by her niece Mrs. Alec Gray.

May 15 the club will meet at the home of Mrs. James Morgan on Marshall avenue.

SUN SPOTS AND RADIO

If human beings don't clutter up the air with too many broadcast-stations, radio fans are in for a pleasant period of extra reception. O. H. Caldwell, amateur astronomer and a former radio commissioner, draws this conclusion from the approach of a minimum sun spot cycle.

Every radio fan remembers, he says, the excellent reception in 1922 and 1923, when even small stations could be picked up clearly and distinctly at great distances. Those were years "of minimum effect of the sun spot cycle which, according to the reckonings, has a period of from eight to 13 years. Thus between 1930 and 1933 there should again be wonderful reception from far-away stations."

The big "if," apparently, is the human factor. There was the greedy boy who tried to take so many nuts from the jar at once that his full fist stuck in the jar's small mouth. Too many stations crowding the air, according to the authority, "will likely lead to a chaos of whistles probably worse than anything during the radio law's break-down in 1926." Better give the sun spot cycle a chance to do us a favor.

CONGRESS SHOULD BUY IT

Revival of agitation for the purchase of Mount Vernon by the federal government reminds a public that has long presumed that it was national property of the conditions. No doubt there are many who are learning now for the first time that the beautiful estate of the first president is the property of the Mount Vernon Ladies Association, says an authority.

It is a jar to visitors to Washington—virtually all of whom take the excursion down the Potomac to Mount Vernon—that they must pay a fee to visit this national shrine. And it is a disappointment to thousands of tourists yearly to find at the end of their journey that the fine old colonial mansion is closed to visitors on Sunday.

To say that congress should have provided the money for federal acquisition of the property long ago does not detract from the credit and appreciation that are due the association which is preserving it until such a time as congress may act for its purchase.

When and if Mount Vernon becomes federal property, the first addition congress should make is the erection of a tablet or other memorial commemorating the part played by Ann Pamela Cunningham in the preservation of the home of George Washington, the authority suggests. Eighty years ago, learning from her mother that the house was falling into ruin, she sought government and state aid and failing in that founded in 1853 the Mount Vernon Ladies Association which raised the funds necessary for its purchase and restoration. It was she who obtained from both commanders in the Civil War promises that the property would not be harmed and won $7000 indemnity from the government in 1869 because the home was closed during the war.

"THANK YOU"

Two little words that make the world run more smoothly, that ease the hard places of life and absorb many of its shocks, the "Thank you."

They are the sign of a gracious spirit. They bespeak a generous attitude that would not withhold praise from those that deserve it—a commodity with which too many of us are stingy.

The majority of us take too much for granted. In a land of plenty and among a people of infinite resources, we expect much and accept everything as a matter of course.

Yet one's best friend likes to hear an appreciative word. While a compliment deserved by an outsider and extended frankly and generously will often convert an enemy into an ally.

Appreciation, like charity, begins at home and among those nearest and dearest. The price of good fellows is a failure and a hypocrite unless he takes his reputation home with him at night and arrays it with smiles and pleasant words at the breakfast table in the morning.

These two little words, "Thank you," makes the world run more smoothly. Learn to speak them. No praise is ever wholly undeserved. Encouraging words are as great a miracle worker as this old world knows.

FOR TOURISTS ONLY

The highest bridge in the world has just been constructed across the Royal Gorge of the Arkansas river, near Canyon City, Colorado. Strung from four immense towers and from hundreds of iron pipes buried in trenches on either side, five thousand telephone cables wound into two immense cords carry the weight of a suspension highway bridge 1,052 feet above the floor of the canyon and the railroad winding toylike along the ribbon of river below. But neither its height nor its magnitude are the important facts about this bridge.

It is chiefly striking in that it does not serve as a connecting link in any main highway nor shorten the distance for any route.

The whole project was built for only one purpose—to give tourists a better view of the beautiful gorge. They may cross it from the tourist roads to the rim, or go up to it in elevators from the railroad.

Twenty years ago the investment of great sums in such a structure would have been unthinkable, suggests the Grand Rapids Press. A bridge, then, was solely a utilitarian structure to get from somewhere to somewhere else more quickly than by going around. Today the values of tourist traffic at last are being realized in a far-sighted way. Both as advertising and as accommodation the great bridge at the Royal Gorge promises to repay its builders.

MOTORISTS URGED TO SPARE RABBITS

A warning to the motorist against needlessly killing rabbits on the highway comes from the game commission at Harrisburg. Moonlight shimmering in spring from the smoothly paved highway has an age-old thrill for bunny no less than for romantic youth, and in neither case has the advent of the automobile profoundly changed the fascination. But the rabbit is more often the victim of the machine. A plea is made for the driver to slacken speed if the slaughter is to be curbed.

Another animal which at night might be mistaken for a rabbit is equally inclined to dispute one's right of way and generally with retributive results. The operator negligent enough to run over a hare may find he has committed trespass upon a skunk.

Anticipated pleasures frequently fall short of specifications.

Some women worry themselves gray trying to look young.

And every man has a right to keep his opinions to himself.

Two of life's urgent requisites are good health and a little more money.

Give but little advice and applaud frequently if you would be popular.

It's pretty hard to be a good-natured and dishonest at the same time.

A cynic is a bird who figures out his opposition to a proposition solely on the basis of who supports it.

Today

A Quiet May Day.

Russia, Italy, Peace.

Workers Live Longer.

She Pays Her Way.

By ARTHUR G. BRISHANE
(Copyright, 1930, King Features
Syn. Inc.)

It is wise not to sit on the safety valve. Thursday New York's "patriots" had their parade, and the "Reds," or radicals, had theirs, with no interference by the police. There had been no violence when this was written at 4 o'clock Thursday.

Let men talk and print, and they will be contented. Forbid them to talk, and they'll do something worse. Very pathetic in New York's radical parade were the young children, some only five or six years old, parading in dusty streets under a hot sun. Nothing is to be gained by exhibiting children. Well meaning fathers and mothers would have been wiser had they sent them to play in the parks, while their fathers and mothers paraded.

Thursday was a calm May Day everywhere. In London, Budapest, Vienna, Berlin, big parades were all peaceful.

Needless to say Italy was quiet. Mussolini wouldn't let it be otherwise. May Day celebrations took the form of religious festivals.

While it lasts, dictatorship seems the simplest form of government. Everything is peaceful in Russia where everybody is radical. Russia has a dictator.

Everything is peaceful in Italy where nobody is allowed to be radical. Italy has a dictator.

In Russia, reversing the theories of Karl Marx, and managed by extreme-able men, the people are quiet, obedient.

In Italy, where Karl Marx would not be publicly mentioned, a nation, naturally radical, is told that there has been too much talk about liberty and people are obedient.

The question is "How Long?" A Frenchman, falling from the twentieth story, is said to have remarked as he passed the tenth floor: "It's all right as long as it lasts."

How long will it last? A report published by Mr. Frederick H. Ecker, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, concerning 19,000,000 industrial policy holders in the United States and Canada, shows that workers are living longer than they used to.

Thanks to science and prosperity the death rate among wage earners has diminished. Mr. Ecker's statistical bureau shows a new low death rate of 9.4 per 1,000 during March. More adults that live, fewer babies that die is a good program.

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick believes in paying her own bills. You cannot say as much of all male politicians.

Fighting for the senatorial nomination in Illinois, she spent $257,572.00, all her own money. Other funds spent in the campaign came from close relatives.

Those that vote for Mrs. McCormick this fall will know that they are voting not for the nominee of any corporation, but for a woman who pays her own way in politics, and sets a good example.

You may say it is outrageous to spend so much in a primary campaign. So it is. But it was not spent, in this case, for bribery of voters. An expensive primary is better than the old-fashioned convention, with bosses of both parties appointing the nominees of both parties, in obedience to corporations controlling both parties.

England, France and Belgium have reduced the discount rate, which means that you can get money more cheaply there.

You could get it in Paris under 4 per cent while American buyers of stocks were paying 15 per cent. Our Federal Reserve reduces its discount rate in the New York district to 3 per cent.

"Call money," with which stocks are bought, will be cheap for the present.

Nevertheless, stocks were weak Thursday.

Some apparently were wise enough to know that even cheap money is dear, if you use it to gamble.

Six months ago, 3 per cent call money would have meant 10,000,000 share days on the stock exchange.

The western world will hear with regret of another earthquake in Tokyo, unusually strong.

Japan is on the edge of a gigantic submarine canyon, deepest in the Pacific Ocean. Frequent ocean land-slides explain the earthquakes that have numbered as many as 1,500 in one year. The courage of the Japanese is admirable.

The price of sugar for future delivery sold Thursday at the lowest price in record since the Civil War, raw sugar selling for 15 1/2 cents a pound. Sugar men are worried about the tariff here and in Great Britain.

Of all th' ways o' gettin' across a street safely, I reckon th' plan o' waitin' till traffic starts goin' your way is about th' best.

What made all that noise in your room last night?

John dreamed he was in town and he kept moving the bed around from place to place so that he wouldn't be arrested for parking too long in one place.

THE RAILROAD'S PROBLEMS

The new problems that changed conditions in American life have raised up for the vexation of the railroad executive are graphically set forth by some figures in the current issue of Golden Book magazine. The gleaming Pullman car, for instance, is no longer the great money-maker for the railroads. For every dollar it earns the lowly freight car earns six.

Furthermore, the day coach has fallen on evil days. In 1921 day coach passengers contributed $750,000 to the railroads; in 1928 they paid only $454,000.00. Automobiles and higher living standards are directly responsible.

The railroad men have met the issue by increasing their efficiency. In 1922 the average freight train had 38 cars; today it has 48. In 1922 the average car moved 23 miles a day; now it moves 31 miles.

If you think that all of this hasn't given the railroad men furrowed brows and gray hairs, you might ask the next railroad man you meet.

Souvenir Coins Under Fire As Result Of Veto By Hoover

Commemoration Of Gadsden Purchase Is Considered Important But Evils Of Souvenir Coinage Are Subjects Of Comment

President Hoover's first veto though dealing with a relatively unimportant matter, has served to stir up a certain amount of friendly debate. There is general support for the presidential objection to the minting of special coins to commemorate the Gadsden Purchase though some feel that the sentimental value of such a souvenir would outweigh the disadvantages which prompted the veto. It is agreed that the Gadsden Purchase of territory from Mexico has an important place in history. Whether or not the line should have been drawn on this particular matter is the chief subject of discussion.

"The president's veto has the approval of those who think that the custom was not in keeping with the dignity that should attach to the coinage of a great nation," says the PORTSMOUTH, OHIO, TIMES, while the RICHMOND, IND., ITEM, contends: "The monetary system of the country is created and exists for a well-defined and essential purpose. Sound practice demands that it should not be diverted to other uses if we were best to serve the needs of trade and commerce, satisfy the convenience of the people and protect the integrity of our coins."

"If medals are desired for observances of this kind," according to the ST. LOUIS GLOBE-DEMOCRAT, "they can be struck by private firms. Acquisition of territory by purchase, even from an intimidated enemy, is to be encouraged over acquisition by arms, but if the 75th or 77th year calls for a coin, would not the 100th year call for another? Perhaps we may assume that a halt is also to be called on the issue of special commemorative stamps, which has enthusiastic approval by stamp collectors, as probably the issue of special coins has of coin collectors. But the practice is being carried too far."

"The line had to be drawn some time," is the opinion of the ALBANY EVENING NEWS, "and it is well that it is drawn now. There are better ways to commemorate great events in American history. The News emphasizes the president's statement that 'there are now about 13,000,000 special coins, which have come from the mint within a decade.'

Pointing out that 'Gadsden's treaty with Mexico, which gave Mexico $10,000,000 and the United States $45,335 square miles of territory, was a memorable event and one 'worthy of a commemorative,' the DETROIT FREE PRESS nevertheless believes that 'neither it nor any of the many other memorable events in our history should be made an excuse for exposing the national coinage to confusion and counterfeiting. The first formal coinage introduced in by Mr. Hoover is sound.'

"The suggestion from the president that 'events worthy of commemoration should be taken cognizance of through the issuance of appropriate medals' is quoted by the LYNCHBURG ADVANCE, with the comment: 'We might suggest that commemorative stamps, many of which have appeared in the last 30 years, be issued. They are not costly, and millions of citizens would be able to acquire them while only a relatively small number would acquire the coins. And besides, the danger of counterfeiting would not be present, for no counterfeiters would be able to turn out spurious stamps of the low values which usually are represented by the commemorative postal adhesives.'

Challenging the president's stand, the MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL states: 'No doubt the reissuing of the president is sound. No doubt the coinage of the country should be uniform. The evil of counterfeiting must not overcome the land. At the same time there will be sentimental regrets in certain quarters that a halt has been called to the practice of celebrating great events in the national history by striking of a coin. The history of many nations can be read in fairly good outline from a study of the coins. The Emperor Augustus not only told the story of his rule on the imperial coins but he also used them for propaganda purposes. Some of them were comparable to the Liberty Loan posters.' "The Gadsden Purchase," suggests the "FORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM," marked the establishment of the boundaries between Anglo-Saxon and Latin in the Western Hemisphere which stands today. It would be difficult to select from the list of American events one more significant historically, ethnologically and economically. On the question of the veto, the paper declares: "It is difficult to see how the addition of one more design would have greatly weakened the security of our coinage, especially when the entire issue of special coins sought were to be taken by the association in charge of the event it was sought to memorialize with a guarantee that not one of the coins would ever find its way into federal circulation. And residents of the southwest perhaps will find sympathy for the feeling that the protective measures of Mr. Hoover might well have been held off a bit longer to permit the issuance of the special coins commemorating the Gadsden Purchase, when so many less important events have been so commemorated in the immediate past with the enthusiastic approval of presidents and congress."

As to the special stamp, the CHARLESTON DAILY MAIL is "not so keen even on this," although it remarks that "the more stamps purchased and canceled and taken out of use, the more profit for the government."

The UTICA OBSERVER-DISPATCH thinks that "neither the special coin nor the stamp carries with it any significant lesson in history." The SAGINAW DAILY NEWS advises that "historical or important events should be commemorated, but Because a dog may die.

Because it tears a rug in play.
Are not good reasons why

And sob herself to sleep.
And wonder every day why she Can't have a dog to keep.

Oh, she has tried it over and over.

The first cute puppy died.

And Janet, for a week or more,

Was sad and teary-eyed.

Another dog tore up her shoes.

A third one ran away.

But are these reasons to refuse

The dog she wants today?

A dog is such a dreadful care,

Mom, so, if finely bred,

You can't go wandering anywhere

Unless you know he's fed.

And always there is bitter woe

When dogs are killed or strayed.

But still in spite of this I know

She wants a dog today.

And so once more we've talked it out

With reasons con and pro.

'Too well we grownups know.

But still, despite the hurt and ache

And runs dogs have wrought—

Elks Boy Scouts Winners Of Tully First Aid Trophy

Hundred And Fifty Witness
County Jamboree At Carnegie Auditorium

SECOND PLACE GOES TO HIGHLAND BOYS

What scout leaders believe will record itself as one of the most significant events in all Lawrence county Boy Scout history, is the second annual First Aid Jamboree held Friday night at Carnegie auditorium, attended by approximately 150 parents, friends and scouts.

Competing were first aid teams from the different county scout troops and the exhibitors of the evening gave ample proof that if the opportunity ever presented itself for them to render first aid the scouts would be "prepared."

Seven Troops Entered

First aid teams entered in the contest were: Kiwanis No. 11 and Kiwanis No. 13 from Ellwood City; First Christian Church Troop No. 15, First Presbyterian Church Troop No. 17, Highland Troop No. 18, Elks Troop No. 5 and St. Paul's Lutheran church Troop No. 21.

Judges for the contest were secured through the Bell Telephone company here and included R. C. McCoy, W. J. McEwen, W. B. Young, Frank Curtis, Ed Grasser, F. C. Maine, R. N. Nevel, John Tompkins, George Pollock, R. J. Boyd, W. Snyder, G. R. Weber, A. Hill and J. C. Miller. Advisory judges were Dr. H. E. Zerner, Dr. Paul Wilson and A. A. Webb.

The competition was keen and every one of the teams made almost perfect scores. Elks Troop No. 5 won by a narrow margin of one-third percent and was awarded the "Tully Bronze Plaque" which they have held for one year already. The points scored by the different teams were as follows:

Judges Decision

Elks Troop No. 5, ninety six and one third points; Highland Troop No. 18, ninety six points; Kiwanis Troop No. 13 of Ellwood City, ninety five and one third points; First Presbyterian church Troop No. 17, ninety five points; St. Paul's Lutheran church Troop No. 21, ninety four points; Kiwanis Troop No. 11 Ellwood City, ninety and one third points; First Christian church Troop No. 15, eighty nine and one third points.

J. C. Miller, superintendent of Safety and Welfare for the Carnegie Steel company was called on to present the trophy to the winning team but he turned the presentation over to Dr. Zerner, one of the advisory judges who gave a brief but interesting talk on first aid and presented the trophy to Alfred Howard, captain of the winning team.

Scout Commissioner R. F. Davis led the group in the scout oath and closed the contest. All of the scout leaders were enthused over the results and are already planning to launch preparations for a bigger and better contest next year.

the corner of which is a Spanish coat of arms with the date 1683. Inside this wall are the peons who work at the hides; peons twisting rawhide thongs in the water of a stone fountain for ox teams; wistful-eyed piratical-looking men with their feet in sandals, cutting innumerable steel blades into strips for reatas. The whole place had an indefinable air of serene age—a life that had lived and died and had been born again; of a people who had been born on the ranch—generation following generation as the cut-down sugar-cane fields grow again.

In the valleys below the Aguirre hacienda another even more wonderful scene. One has great battlements with high walls and round towers—loopholes for rifle barrels; battled walls lit on the outside by high beacon lights of iron baskets to hold the flaming faggots. Great gates made open for the stock and the wagons flying before the foe. Some of those ranch houses are virtually fortress castles and have been battered by arrows and bullets and the flame of thrown torches.

STATE CONVENTION OF LIONS TO OPEN HERE ON MONDAY

the two-day sessions which will last until Tuesday night. The Monday luncheon will be the first event and the Hon. Charles Aubrey Eaton, New Jersey congressman and General Electric Co. executive will make the address at that time. The first convention session will occur immediately following the close of this program.

A marked feature of the convention here is that members of New Castle's various civic organizations, the Rotary, Kiwanis, Wolves, Quota and Business and Professional Women's clubs and others will participate in the "Welcome Lions" luncheon on Monday at noon. Regular meetings of the different organizations have been cancelled so that members might join their brother Lions for the opening of the convention.

The New Castle club, under General Chairman A. H. Bartlett's direction, has laid wide plans for the sessions this year. Entertainment and business will be of the highest type and order. Luncheons will be featured by outstanding speakers and business sessions interspersed with humorous and entertaining features long to be remembered.

"Stunt Night"

"Stunt Night" is to be held on Monday evening and will be a show of more clubs in the state have entered this event, which promises to outdo everything like it in recent years. Professional vaudeville acts of high calibre will diversify this program.

An organ recital on the magnificent Cathedral organ will open Monday evening's program of entertainment and pleasure.

Practically every session will be held in the spacious auditorium, which will in itself be an inspiration and a thing of beauty to the delegates who come.

Special parties have been arranged and there will be an abundance of entertainment for the ladies who accompany their husbands. Monday afternoon there will be a tea at the parlor of The Castleton; a luncheon-bridge at the New Castle Field club on Tuesday, while band concerts, boys' chorus entertainments and sightseeing trips by automobile will add to the pleasure of the occasion. The automobile trip will take in fifty miles, and the most important of New Castle show places will be included.

Notable Speakers.
The array of notable speakers secured this year fairly sparkles, and besides Congressman Eaton there will be Past International President Irving Cummings, General Secretary Melvin Jones of Lions International; Raymond D. Evans, assistant United States district attorney at Pittsburgh and Charles Leedy, Youngstown humorist.

Headquarters of the convention will be located at the Cathedral while the headquarters hotel will be The Castleton.

Registration will take up most of the time on Monday morning and plans have been made by the local club to handle this task. The desk on Monday morning will not open until 9:30, but will continue open throughout the day.

Band Concert

Delegates will be treated to a band concert on the terrace of the Cathedral just preceding the opening luncheon on Monday noon. Two of New Castle's most noted band organizations representing the New Castle high school and the Pennsylvania Railroad company will participate in this affair. Both have donated their services and it is with great anticipation that leaders look forward to their program. If the weather is inclement the program will occur inside.

Members of the state executive committee will meet with District Governor David R. Perry of Altoona, on Monday, a short while before the luncheon program gets under way. Meetings of different committees, appointed to do some particular work, will be held at suitable periods during the two days and make reports of their findings to the business sessions of the convention.

D. R. Perry Presides

As governor of the 14th district, or that which comprises the Pennsylvania section, Mr. Perry by virtue of his rank will preside at the sessions or until his successor has been chosen at the election on Tuesday afternoon. The site of the 1931 convention will also be selected at this time. Polls will be located in the Cathedral lobby and at The Castleton and delegates will be permitted to cast their votes there.

Important business to the Lions of Pennsylvania will demand the attention of the delegates during their stay here. Included will be a discussion and definite decision on a new proposed method for financing conventions. Consideration will be given to the further sub-division of the district into an additional region and a

Too Close!

—National Safety Council

THERE'S just one excuse for parking your car in front of a fire hydrant. Can you guess it? When your car is on fire, of course! At any other time it is likely to cost you money to do it. The fire above is pointing out the fact that, were a fire to break out in the vicinity, it would be mighty difficult for the fire department to get at the plug in a hurry.

re-establishment of regional lines. Another committee will report upon plans and methods for the establishment of an annual district governor's cup to be awarded the club personifying best the ideals, objects and progress of Lionism.

Every local Lion is at work today, in fact has been since the formulation of convention plans first began. General Chairman A. H. Bartlett and President E. D. Marvin are in charge with a competent staff of committees ably assisting him. Plans are to make it a convention long to be remembered and indications are that it will be.

Club leaders have asked local merchants to co-operate and to display their club flags early Monday morning. East Washington street will be in gala attire, all as a part of the effort to open wide the city's hospitality for the two days the visitors are here. Every other western on Washington street has been given a Lions banner and these will intersperse the American flags up and down the street.

City officials are heartily co-operating with the local club and police will be on hand to aid the delegates. Four hundred Lions and there wives are expected to attend, and hundreds of club members from the towns surrounding New Castle will motor here and perhaps never be counted in the registration poll. Farrell, Butler, Beaver Falls and other clubs plan hundred or near-hundred percent attendance and this will go to boost the number of visitors here.

The program for the first day's sessions follows:

Monday Morning
9:30—Registration of delegates in foyer of the Cathedral.

10:00—Band concert by the New Castle high and Pennsylvania Railroad bands at Cathedral.

10:30—Meeting of executive committee at Cathedral. Posting of committee appointments and announcements on convention bulletin at Cathedral.

TOWN DOCTOR

"DOCTOR OF TOWNS"
SAYS

SEE NEW CASTLE IN PICTURES

Far be it from me to say that New Castle is not a good looking town, but I do believe that if you could see your town in pictures that you would want a lot of retouching done.

We seldom, if ever, can see ourselves as others see us. Did you ever hear the remarks made by a person when first he viewed the proofs of his own photo—hear him exclaim, "MY heavens! Do I look like that?"

A mirror is often deceiving, but a camera never lies; therefore if you are not afraid to look at an unretouched picture—see New Castle as others see it—do this:

Take an ordinary camera of four by five film size or larger, go out on one of your main business streets and take a picture, from the middle of the road, on a forty-five degree angle to the right; then straight ahead; then on a forty-five degree angle to the left. Now walk a quarter of a block and repeat until you have taken pictures of each quarter block through and beyond your business district.

Do this on every business street, starting at least one block away from the first business building, and continue at least one block past the last one.

Now go down to the railroad depot and stand in about the position that a person alighting from a train would stand. Take a picture of everything to be seen from this point. Do not try to picture any one thing, but set your camera in such a position that each picture will just overlap the previous one. When this is done, start walking toward the center of the city and, from the middle of the street again, photograph your way up or down town as the case may be.

Next get out on the main highways, about a mile from edge of city, and photograph your way completely through your city.

If you have a public square, stand as near the center of it as possible, facing south, and photograph straight ahead; then southeast, then southwest. Repeat this to the north, east and west.

Have the pictures developed, and when completed sit down prepare yourself for a surprise. Take a good look at New Castle as the camera and others see it. Let everybody in town take a good look. To say you will be surprised doesn't express it, and it is ten to one that you will say, as those who look at the proofs of their own photographs, "Ye gods! Does our town look like that?"

Study these pictures in sequence as taken. Pick out those things that "Look like Heck", then start out to eliminate them.

See to it that each year New Castle is made to look better. See that each year, each month, it is made a little bit cleaner, a little bit brighter, a whole lot more attractive. And you will soon find that just so it will become a little bit better, quite a bit larger, and much, much more prosperous.

HOW ANYTHING LOOKS IS IMPORTANT, SO MAKE NEW CASTLE LOOK GOOD.

Bo Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press
NEW YORK, May 3.—A local department store is displaying a waterproof watch in a goldfish bowl in its window. At night a spotlight plays on the watch and the fish swim around it. A female of the species complained to the local S. P. C. A. that the electric light was injuring the eyesight of the fish.

She is probably the same little cutie who playfully puts carpet tacks in her husband's slippers and joggles his elbow in kittenish abandonment when he is shaving.

LOOK OUT, LITTLE ANGEL

In my own bouquet of memories it seems only yesterday that Rhea Crawford in blue uniform and red-ribboned straw bonnet was beating a tambourine on a white light corner of Herald Square. The Salvation Army lassie's prettiness, as night after night, she begged sinners to come to Glory, earned her the title of "The Angel of Broadway."

I do not know how many sinners she saved, but I do know she won a lot of admirers, who attended her corner meetings like a flock of stage door Florida men, and next we see her in the photo sections and news-reels dodging "with the Paul Beach crowd." Then followed a divorce and temporary oblivion.

Now she is back on Broadway—but not with a tambourine. She is negotiating to make a motion picture and soon leaves for the Cinema Capital.

Look out little angel, Hollywood has a habit of singing one's wings.

STILL BIGGER

It's a snooty crowd—that Metropolitan Opera House outfit. They're giving Otto Kahn, the big boss, all kinds of trouble in his effort to locate his song birds in a new cage. First the Vanderbilts put their several feet down on the site Kahn selected in W. 57th St., near 9th Ave. They were evidently fearful that some night sundry gents from nearby

"Hell's Kitchen" might wander in and stick up the "Diamond Horseshoe." Now thumbs down have been turned on John D. Rockefeller's offer to make the Opera House the nucleus of his proposed art center in Rockefeller City on midtown Sixth avenue. So, Mr. Rockefeller will build there, instead, the largest motion picture theatre in the world and has signed S. L. Rothafel (Roxie) to manage it.

"Roxie's" slogan seems to be "Bigger and Brighter Theatre"—first the Capitol, now the Roxie and in 1932, the Rockefeller.

HORSES, HORSES, HORSES

For the first time in years, a man was recently arrested for speeding his horse in Central Park. And that led us to make a little investigation. We found that most any nice Spring, Fall or Winter day, there are more than 1,000 horses on the park's bridle path. Our informant also told us that New Yorkers pay $3,000 daily to ride in the old park. Average 8 hours a day, or $24,000 for 24 hours.

Between 15 and 20 riding academies and stables depend for a living on Central Park. There is an average of 50 horses to every stable, and the cost for riding ranges, from $2 to $4 an hour. In addition to the regular period, there is also midnight riding.

GIDDAP, PEGASUS

Second Wind
Your favorite actress and mine, Marie Dressler, was on from Hollywood, recently and all atwitter about getting back there again. And no wonder. Marie has been one of the sensations of the talking screen. Some of the old-timers, who are attempting a comeback by way of the new—ahem—are, are about as funny as a busted crutch, but Marie only has to walk on the screen and wiggle an eyebrow to have her audience falling off their seats.

Did you know that her real name is Lelia Koerber, and that years ago, she ran a concession at Dreamland.

Sues 'Fastest Human'

Papers in a $100,000 breach of promise suit have been served on Charles W. Paddock, U. S. Olympic sprinter, by attorneys for Miss Madeline Lubetty (above), of New York, who charges Paddock jilted her after announcement of their engagement. The runner has entered a general denial of the charges.

Coney Island? But to offset that she has many friends in New York society including Mrs. Oliver Harriman, and she was once the intimate of Mrs. Oliver Belmont and the late Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish.

We'll be seeing you again, Marie.

ADD SERVICE

There is being advertised a service for authors which for the sum of $5 a year guarantees to furnish 10 or more plots.

I told this to the Duchess, and she said she knows now where some of those Broadway plays are coming from.

Kane Buildings And Homes Shaken Due To Explosion

(International News Service)
KANE, Pa., May 3.—An explosion, believed to have occurred near Bradford, 22 miles north of here, shook buildings in Kane early today and brought many residents hurrying to the streets by their night clothing.

An earthquake was feared at first to have caused the tremor, but later reports said there had been an explosion near Bradford. The nature of the blast was not revealed.

Local telephone operators said they were flooded with calls from frantic subscribers trying to learn the cause of the shock.

Railways Company Sued For $25,000

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, May 3.—The Pittsburgh Railway company today faced a $25,000 damage suit growing out of the death of William H. Cullen, February 22 last. The suit was filed by his widow, Mrs. Mary Cullen.

Cullen was killed by a street car as he crossed the street.

New Anti-Pain Oil Works Wonders

Takes the Crick Out of Your Neck. The sharp shooting pains out of the shoulders—in a few minutes.

This new discovery is a combination of eucalyptus together with essential oils, turpentine, camphor, Capsicum and other valuable ingredients that is now being offered to the public under the name of "Anti-Pain Oil," formerly known as Snake Oil. It has proved to be an effective, agreeable remedy for aches and pains, rheumatism, flu, coughs, etc. Thousands of sufferers are now being relieved by this new penetrating oil.

For rheumatic pains, neuritis, crick in the neck, sharp shooting pains in the shoulder, stiff joints and sore muscles, apply freely to affected parts. The oil quickly penetrates, bringing relief almost like magic. For chest colds, flu and sore throat, apply freely to affected parts, well greased with vaseline or lard. For coughs or hoarseness take ten drops on a lump of sugar.

Don't continue to suffer longer. Use this new and improved remedy, perfected after years of research and experimental work, instead of poisonous habit-forming drugs. You will then know what it means to be free from pain.

Refuse imitations. Nothing like this new Anti-Pain Oil formerly known as Snake Oil. Special introductory generous size bottle for 50¢. Now being sold and introduced by Eckert's of New Castle, Inc.

"LOOK at a new moon shoulder, and you're sure to have an accident!"

Pshaw! Why not take out an Accident Policy and laugh at the moon over either shoulder!

HELEN KELLER

The library committee of congress must have been impressed when Helen Keller urged the government to spend money for libraries for the sightless. What an inspiration to the handicapped is this woman who by sheer intelligence and prodigious energy has brought herself up out of silence and out of darkness to participate triumphantly in the affairs of life.

FLORIDA FOR SKATING

Gurth, Berlin chemist, convinced that he has discovered the process for making ice that won't melt, has visions of covering the United States with skating rinks. His "opal ice" is hard water—not cold. It is boiled with chemicals which Gurth keeps secret. Skating rinks using this ice would be as practical in summer in the warmest climates as in the coldest winter. Will man master nature after all?

THE REAL BASIS

The reason that most babies today live instead of die is because their health rests upon the security that has been earned through scientific research and careful clinical practice. The reason that lives are not swept away by thousands in the western world is because of this same hard-won security. And yet most of us are willing to listen to every wild notion of the way to keep health and to prevent illness.

NOTIONS

Our eagerness to embrace fads for health is no less strong than our eagerness to build mind and character by hastily conceived notions. Afflicted with the age-old craving to get something for nothing we run down every road that looks as though it might be a short cut to culture, a short cut to learning, a short cut to happiness. The long and sometimes difficult road of concentrated effort is the only road that reaches all the way.

CONTROL

Man has turned his mind, little by little through the centuries, into productive channels. He has learned by the use of his mind to adjust himself to nature and her indifferent ways. One wonders if man's next great step is to acquire the control of his emotions.

MAKING UP OUR MINDS

When we talk about making up our minds, what we often mean is that we are giving way to our emotions or re-arranging our prejudices. To have learned to think clearly, without the interference of instinct, is a tremendous achievement.

Nye Committee To Go Over Expenses Of Illinois Primary

Senate Committee Will Probe Accounts Of Ruth McCormick And Charles Deneen

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 3.—The Nye committee investigating campaign expenditures will spend the week-end going over the accounts submitted by Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick and Sen. Charles S. Deneen (R), whom she defeated in the recent Illinois primaries. Nye (R) of North Dakota, the chairman, said today.

The report of Thursday's hearings in which Mrs. McCormick admitted she had spent a quarter of a million dollars out of her own pocket for the nomination, is now being printed as a public document.

Nye said his committee would meet again on Monday to decide if they would go to Illinois at once to look into the recent campaign, or take up the expenditures now being made in Pennsylvania where Sen. Grundy (R) is a candidate for the nomination against Secretary of Labor James J. Davis.

Report Theaters Sold By Company

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 3.—Announcement was made here today of the purchase of 58 motion picture theatres in Pennsylvania by the Paramount-Public Theatres corporation from Michael E. Comerford. The price was reported as near $20,000,000. Several theatres in New York state were also included in the deal. Comerford's first theatre was in Scranton. He purchased it 25 years ago.

Erie Man Given Stiff Sentence

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, May 3.—Meyer Zeldner of Erie was under sentence today to serve six months in the Erie county jail and to pay a fine of $200 for violating the national prohibition laws.

He pleaded guilty to selling and possessing contraband liquor. The indictment also recorded him as a previous offender.

Planks Outlined By Candidates Before Pittsburgh Voters

Republican And Democratic Candidates For State Offices Go Separate Ways

Allegheny County League Of Women Voters Hear Ballot Seekers Make Pledges

By IRA M. MOHLER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, May 3.—With various planks in their platforms even more forcibly riveted by open and vigorous expression of views before the Allegheny County League of Women voters here last night, Republican and Democratic candidates for state offices again went their separate ways throughout the state today in quest of primary ballots.

All leading candidates for the senatorial and gubernatorial nominations on the Republican slate, with the exception of Francis Bohlen, senatorial candidate, were present at the colorful meeting.

Planks Announced

Keynotes of the speeches of the candidates were as follows:

"The greatest problem we have on our hands is to keep our people regularly employed at a good wage."

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis.

"I believe the outstanding issue of the time is the tariff."

Senator Joseph R. Grundy.

"There are many ways in which the governor of Pennsylvania can help to restore the soft coal industry to a profitable basis and they ought to be and will be used when I am elected."

Former Governor Gifford Pinchot.

"It is my guiding principle that it is the duty of every man to use his utmost and every effort to promote the progress and the welfare of the men and women in the state and nation."

Francis Shunk Brown.

"Bootleggers and political bosses are satisfied with prohibition. Are you?"

Thomas W. Phillips.

Davis Elaborates

Davis elaborated on the employment issue but the thread of what he declared the major issue ran predominantly through his speech. He concluded by quoting the remark of President Hoover a few nights ago—

"A job for every one who wants to work."

He declared:

"That is issue enough for me, and I believe it is the greatest issue to every good American."

Grundy, in addition to declaring for the protective tariff, voiced his affirmative stand on liberal appropriations for soldier welfare; appropriations for inland waterways and for child labor legislation and legislation for protection for women in industry.

Coal Aid Promised

Pinchot announced his intention, if elected to the governorship of sending the state's attorney general to Washington as he did during his last

Bears Deluge Stock Market

Nearly 5,000,000 Shares Are Traded During Morning Session

MANY STOCKS AT LOWER PRICE LEVELS

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, May 3.—Bears in the stock market deluged the market with selling orders near the close of the most active Saturday session since last November and prices of the well known industrial stocks broke to the lowest levels of the movement.

As in the last three days, the blue-chip stocks of the industrial list were hardest hit in the violent reaction which has been in progress since the first part of the week.

Westinghouse electric was thrown on the market in large blocks near the close today and sustained a net loss of 13 points at its final price of 160 1/2.

United Aircraft was down 14 points at 66; Vanadium Steel down 16 at 102; United States Steel down 5 at 170 1/2; Radio down 9 at 46 1/2; American Tel and Tel down 5 1/2 at 240 1/2.

Losses in the rank and file of industrial and railroad stocks were comparatively smaller. Anaconda Copper sold off 1 1/2 at 57 1/2; Chrysler Motor was down 1/2 at 33 1/2; General Electric down 1/2 at 75; National Cash Register down 1/2 at 54; Radio Keith down 2 1/2 at 38 1/2; Montgomery Ward down 1 1/2 at 41 1/2; American Can down 1 1/2 at 135 1/2; American and Foreign Power down 3/4 at 76 1/2; Consolidated Gas down 3/4 at 120; Warner Brothers down 4 at 63 1/2; Johns-Manville down 2 1/2 at 100 1/2.

Stock sales on the big board totaled 4,867,530 shares, the largest two-hour session in the history of the stock exchange and the first time that Saturday transactions have exceeded 4,000,000 shares.

The previous high record was made on December 8, 1928, with 3,749,800 shares and the high Saturday record in the October-November panic period 3,488,310 shares.

Though the stock market has been gradually slipping off since the first of last week, today's violent break was a surprise to Wall Street, which was generally of the opinion that yesterday's shakeout had taken the last of the weakly-held stock off the hands of margin speculators.

Wiping out of impaired margins and opening up of stop-loss orders swept away the underpinning of some sections of the market, which accounted for such severe losses in the speculative leaders.

Compared with last week's high price range, losses in such well-known shares as U. S. Steel, Radio, Westinghouse and General Electric have lost 10 to 30 points; with the exception of last October and November, one of the severest breaks on record.

Selling of stocks by disappointed holders near the close of the short session helped swell liquidation which blocked any pretense of a rally.

Stocks were thrown on the market for what they would bring.

The bears have had the most successful week of the year.

Coincident with the decline in stock prices, the downward move in bank stocks also continued. Guaranty Trust Company lost 42 points at 725, making a 100-point shrinkage in two days. National City Bank was down 10 points and Corn exchange down 10.

Switzerland, France, Belgium And Other European Countries Suffer Effects

(International News Service)

BERNE, Switzerland, May 3.—An official message of protest against certain provisions of the New United States tariff was cabled to President Hoover by President Musy of Switzerland today.

President Musy stressed the duties placed on European lace, against which manufacturers and workers all over France, Belgium and Switzerland already have protested.

"The United States tariff," President Musy's cable read, "will inevitably have such a painful effect economically that I am compelled to call your attention to the duties on watches and lace, which will virtually paralyze the national industries of Switzerland."

Dorn told his story later as he sat in the detective bureau.

"I was working at my trade as a barber in the pen hospital when the big fire broke out," he said. "I had been there since October, 1929, for burglary and larceny, serving one to fifteen. Sent down from Bowling Green."

"There were a lot of strange doctors running around the place. I helped carry out the burned boys. About 10:30 p. m. when the fire was about over, I began thinking about myself. I had a pair of white pants on. I got a white coat and hung a stethoscope around my neck. Then I walked out."

"The soldiers let me through the gate. They ran up and said, 'How's things in there, doc?' I said, 'Boys, they're about the same. I can't stop now. I'm in a big hurry!' I told them I was a Toledo doctor and had been driving through town with a couple of my assistants."

"I said the assistants were still there and were keeping my car, but I had to be in Flower hospital at Toledo—I used to live there—first thing in the morning. Some doctors took me to the bus station in their car and lent me the money."

"I had picked up a topcoat and hat in the prison. When I got to Toledo my pals gave me money and clothes. I came to Cleveland and was here two days. I went from here to Erie, Pa., Rochester, Syracuse, Philadelphia, Newark, N. J., then came back to Cleveland to see a girl I knew on the East Side."

"I was getting pretty tired of being on the dodge. You know, every guy that passes and looks at you, you think he's a dick. I was about ready to go back and give myself up to get the suspense over with. No, I won't tell you the girl's name."

"How do I know how I got knocked off? Maybe my girl has other fellows. It wasn't my fault I got away, anyhow. I didn't hurt anybody or climb the wall or anything. I just walked out. They'll laugh about it when I get back."

Detectives also refused to divulge the source of the "tip" on Dorn's whereabouts. His record is lengthy and includes terms served in Western State Penitentiary, Pittsburgh, and Indiana State Penitentiary at Michigan City, Ind.

With good behavior Dorn would have been eligible for parole in October.

Convict Who Escaped Disguised As Doctor; Caught In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, O., May 3.—Michael Dorn, escaped convict from Ohio Penitentiary who, disguised as a doctor, walked boldly out of prison past national guardsmen a week ago Monday night, sat in a cell at Central Police Station last night and waited for officers to take him back to Columbus.

His luck at escaping hadn't held. Yesterday afternoon when Detective Sergeant Charles Cavolo and other policemen walked into his room on the second floor of a rooming house at 7702 Home Court N. S. Dorn smiled, knocked the screen off the window and, in his bare feet, leaped straight into the arms of Detective Harry McCune.

Dorn told his story later as he sat in the detective bureau.

"I was working at my trade as a barber in the pen hospital when the big fire broke out," he said. "I had been there since October, 1929, for burglary and larceny, serving one to fifteen. Sent down from Bowling Green."

Federal Government May Confiscate Two Farms As Contraband

Steps Taken By Federal Dry Administrators To Take Two Illinois Farms

Liquor Found On Both Farms—Seizures Would Be Legal Under Ancient Law

(International News Service.) CHICAGO, May 3.—An innovation in prohibition law enforcement was introduced today with announcement by Administrator E. C. Yellowley that he has taken steps to confiscate two large Illinois farms where raiders found liquor stills.

In so doing, Administrator Yellowley is invoking a 66-year-old revenue act which has seldom been put to use. The statute is directed against the operation of unlicensed distilleries. The statute is exceptionally broad, according to revenue law experts, and could be applied universally.

The farms are those of James Englehardt, Spring Valley, Ill., and Elmer Flaherty, Ladd, Ill. The former consists of 520 acres and the latter 208 acres.

Yellowley, in a telephone conversation with Walter M. Provine, United States attorney at Peoria, directed that he take the legal steps toward confiscation of the two properties.

Principal provisions of the act allow seizures:

1. Of all property used in connection with the operation of the still;
2. All rights, titles or interests of the distiller in the lot or plot of ground where the still is located; and
3. All rights, titles or interests in such property of any person who knowingly permits operation of an unregistered still.

New Yorkers Are Incensed Over Act By Customs Agents

Seven Thousand Leaving Liner Bremen After Farewells Searched For Liquor

(International News Service.) NEW YORK, May 3.—More than 7,000 persons who visited the liner Bremen last night were voicing their resentment today at the "hip slapping" they were given by customs agents on their departure from the ship. No arrests were made but several bottles of liquor were seized as contraband.

All of those frisked had seen friends off on the liner which sailed shortly after midnight from Brooklyn. Women's coats were pulled back and wraps which they carried on their arms were thoroughly inspected. Several fist fights were narrowly averted when husbands resented agents searching their wives.

The "hip slapping" was carried on despite the rescinding of the order permitting it by assistant secretary of the treasury Seymour Lowman recently. Some of the searching was conducted by the under-cover men in the customs service but the uniformed men took part in it under their direction.

Roundsmen John Cronin, in charge of the under-cover squad of the customs department, said he had his salary raised $300 recently for his vigilance.

ABE MARTIN

On Being Mentioned

Benton Sap, an "The Willows" in the Background.

Owin' to the fact that Benton Sap's name has been prominently mentioned in connection with several important posts an' commissions, curiosity leads me on to pay a quiet visit to his home, "The Willows." The Sap home is on the Mudcock pike, about eighteen miles due west from Bloom Center, an' about twenty-two miles from the nearest willow tree. The house, a plain frame affair set well back from the road, is reached by a ramblin' driveway through a cat-tail swail. The outbuildin's, hog house, chicken coop, barn, smoke-house, etc., were erected in 1842 an' are still standin'. I wuz greeted by Mrs. Sap, a thin, longhaired woman with a comely face, concave chest, an' seven youngsters nearin' school age. "My man's in Washinton attendin' a sheep dip conference," said Mrs. Sap, as she invited me into the parlor, where many evidences o' gentle blood greeted the eye—a glass case, picture of Pharaoh's Horses, heavily framed crayon reproduction of her forebears, a whatnot filled with Indian darts, great fer he jest keeps available. It's a question whether I'd want to raise my children in Washinton, but I allus say, "Now, Paw, I ain't goin' to interfere with your career. If you think you kin serve your country you head, an' I'll make out somehow." "Has Mr. Sap allus been interested in great governmental problems?" I timidly asked. "He wuzn' doin' anything when I married him. He'd only been out o' college eight years. Then I inherited this farm an' we moved onto it. He had a lot o' ideas about the possibilities o' farmin' at the present time he's greatly exercised over the soy bean activity in Manchuria, a development that threatens the very life of the American farm." How is your man on farm relief? "He's workin' on that now. Good-By. I smell my bread burnin'."

Edenburgers Are Tired Of Their Old Covered Bridge

Running across antiques and taking them home is the greatest indoor or outdoor sport of antique collectors. In Edenburg there is an antique which many people have run across, and the residents of the town wish a collector who likes such things would get it.

And there are other residents of Edenburg who wouldn't care what happened to it just so it was removed.

It is the covered bridge—one of the few of its species left in Lawrence county.

Now don't get the wrong idea of this bridge. It is in quite good shape and has served faithfully for the past 100 years. It has carried many loads and has never fallen down on the job, but Edenburgers would like to see it taken away (for a while at least) and a modern steel one in its place.

David P. Needler, a resident of Edenburg, is one of those who has gotten rather tired looking at the covered bridge. Needler was born in Edenburg 90 years ago this month and has lived there ever since, except for three years spent in the Civil war. "It is a great town and I have never had any desire to live in any other place in United States," says Mr. Needler.

But 90 years is long enough to travel over the same bridge and so Needler would also like some antique collector to cart the bridge away some night.

Someone suggests that an inventory be made through all the old histories of the section of the county to see if there isn't some historical event attached to the covered bridge.

If you yearn to spank somebody, even when it's the other fellow's tire that skids forty feet, you are definitely middle-aged.

Freak Egg Object Of Much Curiosity

Assistant County Superintendent of Schools, C. F. Ball, this morning brought a freak egg to the county superintendent's office. It is unlike anything ever seen by officials around the court house. The egg is unusually large and has a well defined ring around the short circumference. It has the appearance of two eggs cut squarely through the centers and the pieces fastened together, the place of fastening being indented around one-sixteenth of an inch.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

A very handsome man (he says so himself) who lives in Los Angeles, writes to say that handsome females are the most to be pitied of all healthy humans.

"I mean in the collective sense," he says. "Girls will either snub him or will make daring love to him, but never will one be a good friend or pal. Men on the streets, in hotels and restaurants give him the cold eye. That is, men of his age. The handsome man must dress correctly. Neglect or over-dress results in criticisms."

"Of course the writer is speaking about himself, but others must have the same feeling about it."

Well Handsome, I think you are overestimating a little, the importance of the handsome man and how he gets treated. You can't blame it all on your looks. There must be something else about you something you need and haven't got, or something you've got and shouldn't have. You are so self conscious that you must be externally thinking of how you look or why would you blame it all on your looks?

It's true enough that males do give handsome men the glassy eye, if there are women around. Women have a way of looking google eyed at these Romeos, and it infuriates the man with a stomach and puffs under his eyes.

But you find the same thing regarding beautiful women. If anyone comments on the beauty of a woman, other women almost invariably think of something that is wrong with her and tell it. But you could hardly say that the life of a beautiful woman is difficult. I haven't heard any complaints from beauties about their looks.

And as a matter of fact women are taking more and more to men who are not handsome. So few handsome men are rich, there are not nearly enough of those to go around. I don't know why that is. It's "perfectly cooking" to have a handsome beau to dance with you and beau you about, but it takes some of the kick out of it when you have to throw the parties and pay the bills.

It is becoming increasingly difficult to convince women that men who don't make a lot of money are anything but Piffle. They want men who work or at least have ancestors who worked—and got rich.

Men with the curse of a handsome face and figure, have to work hard being regular fellows if they want men to like them. And again, they have to recede into the corner when the men with ladies are about.

I don't know anything the handsome fellow can do, unless he wants to forget about himself and think of someone else for a change. He'd be greatly surprised at the results.

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever," but that was written about permanent things, not about men. Snap out of it Handsome.

Rev. John R. Vance and wife of Macomb, Illinois, arrived Friday at the home of John V. Brewster of the Mt. Jackson road, after a three day auto trip.

Rev. Vance is a former resident of this city, it being his first visit here in many years, he having been employed about thirty-five years ago in the office of J. M. Kimball, superintendent of the Erie and Ashtabula Division of the Pennsylvania railroad, then located at Lawrence Junction.

On leaving here, he went to Princeton Seminary, where he was graduated and since that time he has been engaged in his chosen work of a minister of the gospel.

At the present time Rev. Vance is stated clerk, trustee and treasurer of the Rushville Presbytery, located near Quincy, Illinois. He and Mrs. Vance left their home Monday, spending their first night out at the home of Rev. W. E. Biederwulf at Monticello, Indiana, who is an evangelist of national reputation and a classmate of Rev. Vance. The second night was spent at Mansfield, O. Stops were made at Wooster, O., Van Wert, O., and other points enroute here.

Rev. and Mrs. Vance left this morning on the 7:30 o'clock train of the Pennsylvania railroad for Princeton, where they will attend the commencement exercises of Princeton Seminary on Tuesday. They will also attend the annual banquet and reunion of his class on Monday at the same place.

They expect to return here on next Thursday and will remain a few days after which they will leave in their machine for a trip to Buffalo, Niagara Falls. They will travel home through Canada to Detroit, then go to Chicago and home.

Four Jailed For Chicken Stealing

Wholesale Thefts In Butler County Lead To Arrests

BUTLER, Pa., May 3.—Mrs. Charles Vinson, 46; her brother, John Bell, 37; a nephew, William G. Campbell, 22, and E. W. Ebert, 32, all said to be residents of the Arnold district, were committed to the Butler county jail on charges of wholesale chicken stealing in Butler county.

Information against the accused was made by William Faulkner and Samuel Miller, both of Winfield townships, who allege that they had taken chickens from the Faulkner and Miller farms on April 19, and had taken them to the chicken farm of Mrs. Vinson in Westmoreland county.

Mrs. Vinson told Alderman Carl G. Phillips at a hearing that she was with the men when the farms were visited, but denied that she knew anything about the thefts of chickens, explaining that she had been drinking on the trip.

Will Conclude Series Of Sermons

Pat McDermott Gets "Hole" For Brick Throwing

COLUMBUS, O., May 3.—Pat McDermott, Ohio penitentiary life term and a member of the notorious company K, had a brick throwing complex Friday, and, as a result, he landed in solitary confinement.

The killer of Don Mellett, Canton editor, was confined in the barbed wire stockade in the prison yard, where 600 mutineers are being held until damaged cell blocks are repaired. Friday McDermott obtained a supply of bricks and entertained himself by bombarding convicts who were at work nearby.

National guardsmen rushed into the stockade, overpowered McDermott and put him in "the hole."

Final Installment Of Marble Contest Rules

Windup Of Series Explaining Coming City-Wide Competition Published Today; Play To Get Under Way Next Week

What a player shall not do is related in the final installment of rules and regulations for this year's city-wide marbles tournament, printed tonight. The matter of officials for the contest is also discussed quite fully, and a short paragraph is devoted to the explanation of the age limit for participants.

Two earlier installments of the rules were published in the Thursday and Friday issues of The News, and it is hoped that all who expect to be contestants read them carefully and cut them out. The rules will probably come in handy later.

The final installment follows:

Officials

Officials shall consist of a referee and scorer, scorer available; otherwise referee shall keep score. Referee shall have complete charge of play. He shall interpret the rules and have power to make decisions on any points not specifically covered by the rules. He shall have power to disqualify any player or players for unsportsmanlike conduct. He shall have authority to order from the playing field or its vicinity coach or other representative of player who conducts himself improperly.

Scorer shall keep the record of the game, marking score of each player, shot by shot, and at the termination of the game notify the referee of the score, and referee shall announce the winner. Scorer shall enforce rule in enforcing rule against coaching.

Gasoline Well Case Ends In A Verdict For The Plaintiff

Arthur McGaffie Is Awarded $500 In Case Against Wilkins Bros. and Andersons

Verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $500 was rendered by the jury in the case of Arthur McGaffie against Wilkins Bros. Grant Anderson and Everett Anderson, which has been on trial before Judge J. A. Chambers in court this week. According to the verdict judgment is to be rendered against Wilkins Bros. and Everett Anderson.

This is a case in which McGaffie sued for $7,000 damages on the grounds that gasoline from tanks leaked into his well. Gasoline, which had been furnished by Wilkins Bros was blue, while that pumped out of the well was green. The prosecution claimed that the soil had changed its color.

The defense maintained that tests of their pumps during the time that the gas was alleged to be leaking did not show that any gasoline was escaping.

Martial Law For Harbin Declared

(International News Service) LONDON, May 3.—Martial law was declared in Harbin, Manchuria, today after a Communist demonstration before the Japanese consulate according to a dispatch to the Daily Telegraph.

Rioting broke out and scores of agitators were arrested. The Japanese consulates in Harbin were closely guarded.

It generally was believed the disturbances were inspired by the Soviet Government in Moscow with a view to impress and overawe Chinese during the forthcoming Moscow conference for the settlement of the Manchurian dispute. The Chinese mission left Harbin for Moscow last Thursday.

Our heart goes out to the New Yorker who pondered the census taking question concerning his marital status and answered: "Precarious."

Ambitious towns might have made a better showing by persuading bill collectors to announce a holiday when the census began.

The census will show how many people own their homes, and that will give you some idea of the number that don't try to outguess Wall street.

IT'S WISE TO CHOOSE A SIX

A demonstration tells you why it's wise to choose a six

Everywhere, buyers in the low-price field are agreeing "It's wise to choose a Six." And if you want to know why—get a demonstration of the new Chevrolet Six.

The Chevrolet Six is always smooth. When you idle the motor—drive fast in second—or travel at top speed—the power flows easily and evenly at all times. And everyone in the car enjoys a pleasant ride.

Developing 50 horsepower, the Chevrolet motor is also a marvel of flexibility. Needless gear shifting is avoided. And on the steepest hill, there is a reserve of power more than equal to every need.

And six-cylinder smoothness protects the entire chassis from the destructive effect of vibration. As a result, the whole car lasts longer—and resale value is increased.

Moreover, a demonstration reveals many other reasons why it's wise to choose a Chevrolet Six.

Know Your Roads On Week-End Trips Says Bolsinger

Knowledge Of Road Conditions
Essential For Short Trips
As Well As Tours

Knowledge of road conditions is as essential for short week end trips as for the lengthy vacation journey and with the advent of Spring, car owners should carefully check proposed routes, according to R. W. Bolsinger, President of the New Castle Motor Club, which is affiliated with the American Automobile Association.

Mr. Bolsinger pointed out that with the coming of warm weather road-building agencies turn their attention to constructing highways and repairing roads that were damaged during the winter. As a result, motorists run into unexpected barriers such as closed roads and detours, in many instances necessitating long trips for the return home.

This is especially true, said the A. A. A. Club executive, because of the fact that for short week end trips secondary or country roads are usually selected. After months indoors during the winter season, motorists desire to penetrate the country, away from the billboards and congestion. It is a natural tendency for nature is most resplendent in the early Spring and wild flowers are in early bud.

"In many instances, these roads through the countryside are not adequately marked, providing another handicap for the car owner who travels without advance information. Therefore, the safe way, making for a pleasant and comfortable week end trip, is to make plans a few days ahead and secure adequate details regarding the points to be visited and how to get there with the least trouble.

Peter's Adventures

"Oh, dear me what can the matter be?" His wife's cries went straight to his heart; anxiously Mr. Great Water Beetle looked about him. "Is anything wrong, my love? If you see any danger that I do not you had better tell me."

"I know what's wrong with your wife, sir," remarked Mayfly, suddenly, out of the clear sky.

"What?" cried Mr. Great Water Beetle and the boy in chorus.

"She's worrying over not yet having laid her eggs, aren't you?" Questioned thus directly, Mrs. Great Water Beetle nodded.

"You're right, Mayfly," she admitted. "Speaking of the moon makes me realize that soon it will be night and if I do not hurry I shall not have my day's work done. What about the eggs you were to lay, Mayfly? You haven't forgotten your duty to your race have you?"

"Not I," Mayfly went into a tall spin. "When I first flew over to speak to your husband I dropped my eggs into the pool. Ha, ha, madam, I beat you. You may say I told a white lie about the Mayfly ghosts, but you will have to admit I am no shirk. No, madam, you can't say I just wasted my day. My eggs are safely buried in mud, where not even the Despot of the Pool, himself, could find them."

"Good for you," snapped Mrs. Great Water Beetle. "If I hadn't spent so much time tending to your business, I'd have had my own done. Good-bye, Mayfly. A pleasant sleep! And remember, I shall never forget you!" Mayfly tittered.

A four legged Buff rock chick, broke through its shell on the farm early this week.

The peeps forelegs are vestigial, but the hind legs show promise of development into real drum sticks.

If that chicken lives it will find relief in knowing it will never be somebody's Sunday dinner. Rather it is destined the sheltered life of a side show.

The Story Of American Industry
Meat Packing—Part One

MEAT PACKING IS ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT MODERN INDUSTRIES. THE EARLY SETTLER IN AMERICA RAISED HIS OWN CATTLE AND HOGS. HE WAS HIS OWN BUTCHER AND MEAT PACKER. HE SMOKED OR SALTED THE MEAT TO PRESERVE IT FOR FUTURE USE.

IN TIME MANY OF THE STRAGGLING SETTLEMENTS ON THE ATLANTIC SEABOARD GREW TO BE POPULOUS CITIES. CATTLE AND HOGS COULD NOT BE RAISED IN THE CITY, AND THE CITIZEN CAME TO DEPEND UPON THE NEIGHBORHOOD BUTCHER FOR FRESH, SMOKED OR SALTED MEAT.

THE BUTCHER OBTAINED THE STOCK HE SLAUGHTERED FROM THE FARMS IN THE SURROUNDING COUNTRY. AS THE TIDE OF CIVILIZATION BEGAN TO FLOW WESTWARD INTO THE WILDERNESS, CATTLE AND HOG RAISING BECAME ONE OF THE CHIEF INDUSTRIES OF THE FRONTIER.

THE STEADY GROWTH IN POPULATION OF THE CITIES INCREASED THE DEMAND FOR MEAT. THERE WERE NO TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES LINKING THE BACK COUNTRY WITH THE COAST, AND THE STOCK RAISERS DELIVERED THEIR ANIMALS TO THE CITY MARKETS ON THE HOOF, JOURNEYING GREAT DISTANCES OVER ROUGH TRAILS AND ACROSS THE MOUNTAINS.

Bradley May Answer Question "How Good Is Phil Tobias?"

THOMAS CHALKS UP ANOTHER KNOCKOUT

The ring is pitched and the battles are ready for the weekly Drama in Punch to be staged Monday night at the Jolly bowl. There is no question to the fact that Ruby Dark Cloud Bradley, Holyoke, Mass., and Phil Tobias, temporarily of New Castle, are headliners in the flyweight class and the other six fighters on the calendar are long on swat and favorites with the crowd.

Tobias has trained here for the 10-round contest and Bradley has romped at Holyoke, Mass. Tobias has boxed Frankie Landis, Lefty Arnold, Frankie Frey during the week and he has done his roadwork in Union township. Today he expressed confidence in his condition and said that while he expects a hard battle expects to at least hold Bradley even.

Lew Brown, manager of the Holyoke star wrote here yesterday saying: "You ask the question—How good is Tobias? Well, you will find out Monday night as Bradley is extraordinary good and he will finish the New Castle boys with an answer. You will see a fighter who has won over the best flyweights in the world and never takes a backward step."

Thomas vs. Boier
The flyweights will work out tomorrow afternoon but boxing will be eliminated as it is a stern rule of the Jolly bowl that there be no boxing on the seventh day of the week. The boxers are forced to train to keep their condition but this will consist of only light preparatory work, such as shadow-boxing, rope-skipping, weight pulling and a several miles walk.

Jimmy Thomas, Pittsburgh who battles Joe Boier, Erie in the semi-final knocked out Gypsy Kid last night in the second round. Thomas floored the Gypsy Kid five times. Boier gave Thomas a merry argument last week and expects to win from the colored chap Monday night. But Thomas coming in at 120, or two pounds heavier than last week expects to give Joe a neat fooling. He may and may not.

Frankie Landis received plenty of instruction from Phil Tobias with whom he trains this week and hopes to furnish fans with something to talk about when he takes on Jackie Ward, Cleveland who fought three times here, one with Jimmy Thomas and the other two with Bobby Dempsey. Landis and Ward will weigh 120 pounds.

Two Newcomers
Billy Frenzel, South Side, will meet Tony Brush, Oakland, in the first bout of six rounds. They will be making their inaugural and the fans can expect lots of action. Frenzel has been training for two weeks and Brush has been romping in preparatory work for 10 days. Being young, eager and desirous of making good the fans will benefit by seeing gloves fall.

The bouts will be started at 8:15 p. m. eastern standard time. The doors will be opened at 7:15 p. m. on account of the fans desire to see Tobias and Bradley in the main bout. Tobias win over Tommy Palacio made him a favorite with his supporters and Palacio's friends will journey to the bowl and pull for Bradley to put a crimp in his winning streak.

Pirates Trip Up Boston Braves

Jess Petty Goes To Rescue Of Kremer In Ninth And Saves Game For Pirates

"FORBES FIELD, Pittsburgh, May 3.—Old Jess Petty stepped into the breach here yesterday afternoon to save a ball game that was slowly slipping away from Ray Kremer. The Pirates downed the Boston Braves 3 to 2, to even the series.

Cantwell and Kremer engaged in a pretty pitching duel in the first eight innings. In the ninth the Braves started their warpath dance and chased one run over the plate before Manager Ems decided that Petty should take up the burden. Petty pattered to the mound and set the basemen back like Cannara sets the rank and file of the heavies on their backs. Petty fanned one man and made the other two go out on easy grounders. The bases were choked too when Petty entered the fray.

Paul Waner, Comorosky and Grantham were the big stickers for the Luskmen, with Maranville, Neun and Forger hitting them far, wide and handsome for the McKechine outfit. It was a ball game that left the fans breathless with interest as the Pirates got all jammed up in the ninth only to have the master vaudevillean step into the "tough spot" and show the boys a thing or two about relief hurling.

Geneva Track Team Tops Carnegie Tech

Leonard Friedman Throws Javelin For First Place; Earl Ewing Is Star

Geneva's track team annexed another meet yesterday when they beat Carnegie Tech 90 to 45 in a dual meet. The meet was held at Tech field. Only four first places went to the Tech boys.

Leonard "Len" Friedman, local boy and a member of the Geneva track team took first in the javelin, with a heave of 173 feet 9 inches, about twenty feet short of his record breaking throw at the Penn Relays.

Earl Ewing was the big man for the Geneva team, taking two first places in the 220 yard dash and the 440 yard dash. The Tech boys were shut out completely in the 100-yard dash, Geneva taking all three places.

Night Ball Game Draws 10,000 At Des Moines, Iowa

Whether Or Not Baseball Is Possible Is Big Problem Today

(International News Service)
DES MOINES, Ia., May 3.—Some 10,000 fans today were pondering over the possible future of night baseball after seeing the Des Moines Western league team defeat Wichita 13 to 6 here last night under the glare of 50 million candle power of light.

Apparently pitching arms and batting eyes were not bothered too much by the nocturnal playing, but infielders and outfielders suffered on ground balls and flies which just fell short of being Texas leaguers. Des Moines won principally because of poor pitching and infield errors.

Records May Fall At Ohio State Meet

(International News Service)
COLUMBUS, O., May 3.—Several world track and field records were in jeopardy today as 1,000 athletes from sixty colleges and universities clashed in the second and final day of the program of the seventh annual Ohio relays here at Ohio stadium.

The climax of today's program and of the entire meet will be the 100 yard dash in which George S. Simpson, Ohio State world's record holder, will compete with Eddie Tolon, University of Michigan Negro, Claude Bracey of Rice Institute and Norman Lombacher of Ohio Wesleyan.

Eight records tumbled in the first day's competition here yesterday. John Wonsowicz of Froebel High, Gary, Ind., pole vaulted 13 feet 4 inches, bettering the world's interscholastic record of 13 feet 3 3/4 inches.

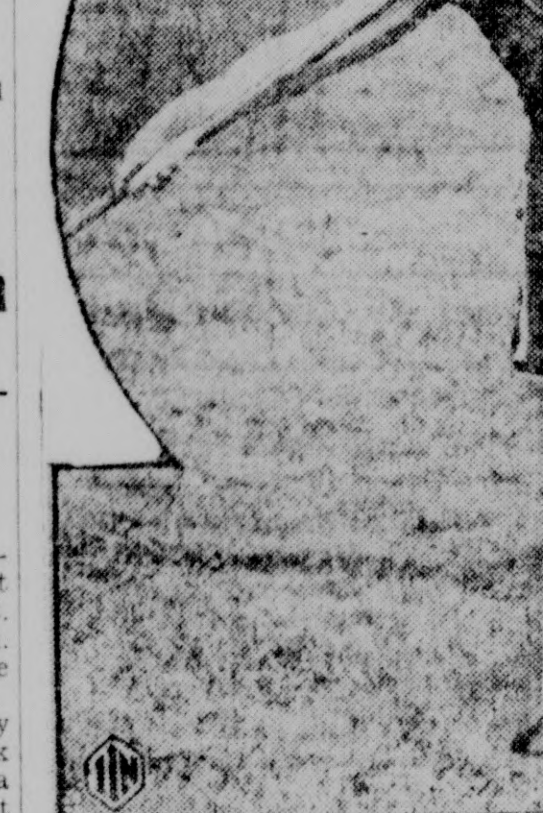

The other records broken were the quarter mile prep relay which was captured by Newark; a high jump of 6 feet 4 inches by Juske of Cleveland John Adams school; and the shot put of 51 feet 2 3/4 inches by Davis of Cleveland Tech.

Universities broke records in the Ohio college 100 yard event, Lombacher of Ohio Wesleyan covering the distance in 9.9 while other Ohio Colleges relay teams lowered three other meet records.

LESSON TWO
Learning to Submerge
To those who desire to learn swimming without an instructor, I say first accustom yourselves to the water. Go in first to the knees, then to the waist, finally to your neck. Then stoop until you are entirely submerged. Remain under water at first only a second until you gradually become accustomed to remaining under the surface.

The next move to make is to take your feet off the bottom, put them out behind you, draw your head down through the water toward your feet and you will find that your feet are touching bottom again and you have turned a somersault in the water.

The above illustration shows how one appears in turning this somersault. Just take a natural breath, exhale through the mouth, and, above all, have confidence.

Union High Tops Wampum, Loudon Hurls Fine Game

Bill Loudon, Freshman Pitcher
Fans Eleven Men; Mateja
Crashes Homer

Coach Dave Boyd's Union high school baseball team came through with a fine victory yesterday afternoon by downing Wampum high 8 to 7 in a game that was packed full of interesting features. It was a class B school league game.

Things looked pretty tough for Union in the first four innings when Wampum tallied seven runs to two for Union. Wampum failed to score in the last three innings. It was a seven-inning game.

Bill Loudon established himself as a starting pitcher when he stepped into the game, his first for a varsity team, and set back the Wampum boys with six hits and fanned 11 men. R.
Ferrucci on the rubber for Wampum had ten strikeouts and allowed Union 12 hits.

Union had an uphill battle to fight going into the sixth frame and they went to work and secured a few runs, and then came back in their half of the seventh to put over the winning tallies as follows: Mateja led off and the boy who had crashed out a homer previously was fanned a Babe Ruth,
Jaworski singles and steals second.

Campbell pokes a double into left field and Jaworski scores the run that tied the game up. Flemming singles and Campbell races home with the winning marker.

Lowman To Probe "Hip-Slapping" By Customs Agents

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 3.—Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury, started an immediate investigation today into the reported
"hip-slapping" by customs agents of 7,000 persons who visited the city
Bremen in New York harbor last night.

"I expect to receive a report on this incident today and am not certain until then whether my order against annoying tourists by hip slapping was violated. If there was a specific complaint that the law was being violated aboard the Bremen that would place a different face on the matter.

"We cannot permit tourists or their friends to hold high carnival aboard
the vessels at New York harbor."

The cheerful optimism of Big Business is no proof of returning normalcy. Wait until the gas station patrons say: "Well, that's all."

Boxer-Barrister

Scrambling Queensberry and Blackstone, Milton Hunter, 22,
New York university student, has turned professional boxer to acquire funds to further his law studies.

Those Brittle Baseballers

Baseball is not a particularly rough game, yet it seems to produce more annoying temporary injuries than all other major sports combined. Reports annually from Spring training camps and tours are studded with "Ruh" Springs Charley Horse." "Famous Star Wrenches Ankle. Will Be Out of Game for Weeks," etc., etc.
All sorts of his best diamond twinklers throughout the season. Twisted muscles, jammed joints, sore feet, bruised fingers and what not keep club physicians busy almost every day and confine players to the bench with surprising frequency.

It is a gag—a sickness complex—or laziness that can be blamed for so much fragility among the base-ballers?

To most instances—no, but in many there's much doubt as to just how crippling such injuries are. Of course those in charge of costly players are fearful lest slight hurts become worse and so managers are lenient or merely wise, perhaps, in permitting ailing stars to take plenty of "time out."

By ROY GROVE
Central Press Golf Writer-Artist

The best golf shots are those where you have a sense of feeling that you are well balanced at the top of your backswing.

An awkward, jerky, forward leaning motion is sure to send the ball into a world of trouble.

To avoid that cramped feeling, and a sure method to keep from over-swinging, is to take the clubhead back on an arc inside the ball. This can be obtained by keeping the right elbow fairly close to the body and holding the weight back on the right heel.

In the illustration of Jones, you see all that, with a slight rise of the left arm starts the wrists action.

At the top of Jones' swing there is not the slightest indication of a strained muscle nor do we see any extra effort made on his part to hit the ball 300 yards down the fairway.

The weight is upon the right heel.
It is important to remember that in starting the backswing the club-head starts before the hands and,
to get this motion, press a bit on the ball of the left foot to begin the action.

Chick Evans uses a slight forward motion to his drive, he presses a bit to the left before starting his back-swing, this loosens the muscles and takes the clubhead back ahead of the hands, producing a smooth rhythmic backswing all the way. He is one golfer who does not overswing, as a matter of fact, he underswings, and we find not a man in the game who has better control than Chick Evans.

Max Schmeling Due In America Tonight

Max Schmeling, German Heavyweight Due To Reach New York On
Liner Tonight

Will Go To Edicott New York
To Train For Sharkey
Bout On June 12

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports
Editor

NEW YORK, May 3.—The blast of the old Calloppo, silent these several years since Tunney turned gentleman and Dempsey turned smart, will ring out anew in the next twenty-four hours, summoning the yodel that is in all of us to come a-running and see the big show. Max Schmeling, the first challenger for the heavyweight championship that the fatherland has sponsored, will arrive on American soil either late tonight or early tomorrow morning and, from that moment, public emotionism will be the trumpet through which the breath of life will be blown into an enterprise that everybody says will be another million-dollar extravaganza.

Many had thought that these died with Dempsey. But it seems they are to be born again with Schmeling, a personality so compelling that his name retained its news-interest even when he withdrew himself to a point three thousand miles from the fount of all notoriety, New York.

Plans Rigid Training
His return means that preparations for his fifteen round title meeting with Jack Sharkey at the Yankee stadium on June 12 will take on an intensive and serious aspect. A heavyweight championship fight always assumes during the final month of its development. Schmeling, always a man of purpose, will not tarry long here.

He will remain over the week end to get his feet re-acquainted with the macadam and then he will depart for his training camp at Edicott, N. Y., there to remain until the day of the contest. Sharkey already has been undergoing some desultory training up in Boston. This is only one of several points in which the American fighter has beaten the gun on Schmeling.

Went Back Home
The later hasn't been under the lights since the Paulino fight almost a year ago. He was ready to go through with Sharkey last September when the New York commission put the Bowser on him because he would have no fraction of Phil Scott and so under something of a cloud, he left the country. He also left the Scott matter to Sharkey and considering all the trouble that developed upon the matter, it is now appears that Schmeling's withdrawal was no second class idea.

However, the result reacted to Sharkey's advantage, rather than Schmeling's. The latter has been out of circulation ever since, whereas Sharkey has been under the whip twice, once with Loughran here and again with Scott at Miami.

Schmeling's condition, therefore,
will be a ripe topic upon his arrival.
A boat load of sport critics will go down the bay to meet him and will look him over knowingly, after which they will gravely announce that the man's condition is exemplary. As a matter of fact, disinterested parties who have been close to Schmeling in Germany vouch for this fact.

They admit that a leg injury gave him much trouble last winter but add that this is entirely cured. They laugh at the stories that told of an injured hand.

Elaborate Reception
The German's reception, even if it has to be staged under cover of darkness tonight, will be as elaborate as three usually tendered visiting poten-tates. It was planned at a time when the scheduled arrival of the New Yorker, on which the fighter is crossing the ocean, was set for this morning. The combined German societies of New York have chartered a boat on which their representatives plan to meet Schmeling in the lower bay and chaperone him to the pier. They also have hired a queue of motor cars to act as a guard of honor for his journey through the streets to his hotel.

The ceremonies in question a more feasible by daylight, yet even the fighter's arrival is timed for tonight. It is understood that all practical features of the German reception will be retained in order that they may fittingly welcome their own.

Glycerine Company Magazine Blows Up

Towns In Vicinity Of Kane And Ridgway Shaken As Big Amount Of Glycer-
ine Goes Off

(International News Service)
KANE, Pa., May 3.—The plant of the American Glycerine Company at Howard Junction, 13 miles north of here, was partially wrecked today
when a nitro-glycerine magazine blew up.

A hasty checkup revealed no loss of life. There were no persons in the factory or vicinity when the blast occurred, according to first reports.

Cause of the explosion was not immediately learned.

Towns within a radius of twenty miles were rocked by the terrific concussion. Residents of Kane rushed to the street fearing an earthquake had taken place.

Cluster City, about three miles from Howard Junction, reported houses rocked on their foundations and windows were shattered.

There were between 300 and 500
quarts of nitro-glycerine in the magazine when it blew up.

Factory officials immediately began an investigation and renewed a checkup to make sure no lives had been lost.

SELLING WAVE SWAMPS MARKET

Violent Selling Wave Engulf
Market In Short Session
Today

By W. S. COUSINS
Financial Editor
NEW YORK, May 3.—Another violent wave of selling engulfed the market near the close of the short session today. Industrial stocks and utilities, which had made a brave effort to rally from the moderate reaction of the first period were swept downward to new lows for the movement. Instead of rallying, as had been confidently predicted, the market went into a nose dive, with selling increasing at such a pace that the stock tickers were more than an hour behind the market.

Latest prices available from bulletins from the stock exchange floor showed a new drop of 7 1/2 points in Radio Corporation to 48; a loss of 5 1/2 points in U. S. Steel to 170 1/2; a drop of 13 points in United Aircraft to 71.
General Electric lost more than 4 points at 76; Westinghouse was down
4 1/2 at 169 1/2; and Standard Oil of N.
J. down 3 1/4 at 73 1/4.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Prices Forced Down By Heavy Selling

By W. S. COUSINS
National News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, May 3.—Heavy selling of the industrial speculative stocks in the wake of yesterday's violent shake-out forced prices of the leaders 1 to 7 points lower in the early trading today. In Wall Street it was said that the inability of speculators to respond to margin calls had forced thousands of shares on the market at a steady drop in prices.

The stock tape fell behind 17 minutes in the first thirty-five, showing that the ticker system was able to take care of only half of the actual transactions on the floor of the stock exchange.

Radio Corporation displayed an extremely weak tone, dropping off an additional 6 points to 49 1/2, making a loss of 14 points from yesterday's high. United Aircraft lost 7 points at 73; Radio Keith was down 2 1/2 points at 38 1/2; Westinghouse down 2 1/2 at 171; Paramount—Public down 4 points at 54; Warner Brothers down 2. United States Steel was again under pressure and dropped back to a new low for the move at 172 1/2, down nearly 4 points for the day and a drop of 24 points from the high of last week.

Stock trading in the first half-hour totaled 1,393,300 shares, against 638,000 in the same period yesterday. Moderate rallies near the end of the first hour restored a part of the early losses, but the market was a whole was still under the influence of the selling wave and the trend of prices was downward.

Business and industrial reports at the week-end were fairly encouraging, particularly in the retailing. In fact, business has improved more than the stock market's behavior this week would indicate from the effects of the unjustified advance of March and April.

Prices of the speculative favorites continued to shrink in the second hour. Case Threshing, one of the most active high-priced specialties, lost 15 points at 300. Vanadium Steel was down 7 points at 112; American Tel and Tel down 3. Another slump in Standard Oil of New Jersey brought that stock down to 74 1/2, or ten points below the high of the current move. Mexican Seaboard lost 4 points and Atlantic Refining 1 1/2. DuPont was down 4 points at 136. The railroad stocks and the utilities made the best showing in this period, due to the comparatively smaller volume of stock offered for sale.

Bullish forces rallied strongly behind U. S. Steel in the late trading and held the old market betwixt steady around 175 1/2. Better buying of the utility stocks also appeared as the session wore on and the most active stocks in this group climbed back to slightly higher price levels.

Blanning Heads Legion Medal Award Group

Work Of Planning For Annual Awards To Boys Of Exceptional Ability Starts

W. Franklin Blanning, well known veteran of the World War, today accepted appointment as chairman of the committee in charge of the annual award of medals to boys of various grammar schools, who are outstanding in every way and considered worthy of recognition in this way.

Chairman Blanning will announce the other members of this very important committee in the immediate future, possibly Monday.

The awards are made to graduates of the eighth grade in all grammar schools of the city and county, who by reason of their character qualifications and their ability along all lines and have been outstanding in their studies, in athletics and in their consideration of others, who for these reasons have been selected as the outstanding student in their respective schools.

They are expected to have shown courage, companionship, character, service and scholarship above others, in order to receive the Legion Medal award.

It is suggested by Chairman Blanning that the faculties of the various schools select three boys meeting, in judgment, these requirements and that the one to receive the award be selected from that group by a vote of the fellow students of the boys selected.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Child Uses Slang Words Of His Gang

"Horsefeathers" says the lad of 16 when he is surprised, and when his brother of 13 hears something which to him seems hardly plausible he exclaims "Horsefeathers!"

The favorite exclamation gradually may give place to another word equally as satisfying to the child. It may be, "My nose," "For crying out loud," or "For cranking a Ford." If such recent ones do not flash readily to the child's mind he may turn back to some of the reliable, such as "Gosh" or "Jimmy Crickets."

Suppose it is your child who is uttering these forms of slang. What are you going to do about it?

It may be possible that you indulge in slang yourself. Many parents do, and some of them waste considerable energy and forfeit a vast amount of the child's esteem by commanding him not to repeat such words and adding for good measure, a long-drawn-out lecture on the ill effects of slang. Unless the child actually is fearful of such parents, he is likely to indulge in slang more freely, even in their presence, following such censure.

We should not overlook the fact that the child as well as the adult, resorts to slang as a means of emotional expression and relief.

Such words as "Horsefeathers" or "My nose" have frequently contributed to the youngster's temporary comfort. By its aid he has been able to feel for the moment socially adequate, since he was able to say something at a time when silence would have cost him pain. His comrades liberally employ slang. He does not wish to appear different. To use certain words over a given period of time is the thing to do, the folk way of the group. When, therefore, the child is in the presence of his parents some of these expressions naturally slip out.

If you and I cultivate in ourselves accurate and varied speech, gradually increasing our spoken vocabulary, and have many adult friends in our home who do likewise, if our children are never lectured to or scolded about their speech at home or at school, if they had been read to from choice literature from their early babyhood, and have learned to enjoy reading many good books; and if moreover, our family has a happy atmosphere in which we enjoy one another's companionship, we need have no concern about the ill effects of slang.

In the event we wish to criticize the child at all for slang we had better wait until some quiet moment entirely apart from the time when we last observed an instance. Then if the relationship between us and the child is wholly favorable, a calm, quiet suggestion may persuade him to wish for a better standard of expression.

In case we can acquire enough poise and discretion I am sure we shall get best results if we do not condemn at all, except in instances which appear obscene and exceedingly vulgar; and, if instead, we compliment the child when he speaks clearly and distinctly and uses words with nice shades of meaning. Let us, furthermore, felicitate him readily when he uses a new word well.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

With all the conventions we are entertaining here, there seems to be a need in the city for a local Grover Whalen. Somebody who can look at ease in a cutaway coat, and can present the keys to the city to the visiting firemen without raising a suspicion that he rented the trick clothes.

The need is rapidly becoming a dire one. It shouldn't be the mayor's job for after all the mayor has other duties, and anyway I don't know whether Mayor Bill has a cutaway coat. The councilman shouldn't be expected to do it for about the time they were in the middle of an address of welcome some irate citizen would be complaining about water in his cellar.

Some soul of suavity is needed who can put his best into the effort, who can wear a wing collar without appearing to be on the verge of apoplexy, and whose shirt front doesn't try to climb into his ear. Yes, the city needs a local Grover Whalen and this column wants to get some nominations for the job.

Since the Legion Home was refurbished, some of the young married women are wondering why friend hubby stays out so late at night. The furniture over there is tricky, so tricky in fact that you hate to leave after spending a comfortable hour or two in the depths of a divan.

Nick Speed stays till the last minute of the evening and then leaves reluctantly. Staying last night turned his chariot into a taxi. He just had five women leaving there, which isn't bad even for Nick.

But to return to the subject of conventions, the Lions are guests here Monday and it's up to all of us to show them that they are welcome. Nothing like a nice fresh lion to brighten up the corner, and Monday will see a whole zoo full of them here.

Where to park your car is getting to be more than just a joke, it's getting to be a problem. Unless you live four or five miles out you are about as well off leaving it at home in the evening for after 7 o'clock you can't get close to the downtown district.

One friend living near Mill and Grant decided to drive down the other evening and after driving seven miles around the city finally found a parking spot on Mercer, near Grant, about half a block away from where he lived.

Straw hat season is here, customers; it's in, regardless of what the calendar says. J. C. Lechner, who juggles a mile of figures daily for the Shengango Pottery, crashed through Friday with a straw skimmer, and while he doesn't claim to be an arbiter of fashion, the straw hat season is here with him.

Now there was a time when the haters said that May 15th was the time for straws. Not any more, not as long as men of decision like J. C. are with us. He takes his styles as he finds them.

Dropping to the other extreme, Bill Mayberry gave the lobby loungers in The Castleton a treat last night when he skidded in with a pair of white and tan shoes on. You know the kind! That's them.

Looks like the summer is about here. Straw hats, summer shoes, now all that remains is for some one to crash through with a palm beach suit who sneezes germs all over you.

What a land! Make an oil gusher pay damages for sprinkling farm land and do nothing to the bad-cold addict who sneezes germs all over you.

Correct this sentence: "If I can get a honorable he-man," said the flapper. "I won't care if he's as bald as an owl."

"The Singin' Skewl" Draws Big Crowd

Musical Comedy Given By Parent-Teachers Association Of Oak Street

Presentation of "The Singin' Skewl" by members of the Parents-Teachers

Association of the Oak St. school was greeted by a capacity audience in the Reformed Presbyterian church last evening, and provided an evening of wholesome entertainment which was much enjoyed by the big crowd present.

The plot of the play was built around scene typical of the old-fashioned singing schools which flourished in the rural districts of the country in days gone by, and the players wore costumes of earlier days.

C. H. Martin, as Prof. P. Percival Pippin, the Singing Master, presided, and a number of rounds, medleys, and old familiar tunes were sung.

Feature numbers on the program were sung by Mrs. Edward Meehan, Carl Gilmore, Reed McCulough, Mrs. Charles Eddy, Mrs. L. E. Cramer, Mrs. Harry R. Allen, John D. Waggoner, C. H. Martin and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Lachey. Miss Iretta V. Dart, Miss Leona Sankey and Louis Jenkins gave humorous readings. Mr. and Mrs. James Wigton also made a hit with their comedy number.

The play was so successful that requests have already been received to present it at other places.

FLOOR AND DECK ENAMEL

FOR

PORCH FLOORS—INTERIOR FLOORS, STEPS, BOAT DECKS, ETC.

Greater Service, Protection for Moderate Cost—Dependable, Attractive, Easily Spread

Enamel That Will Give Your Floors the Appearance Desired—Investigate Our Floor and Deck Enamel

The elements get in their deadly work surely and insidiously. Unless exposed surfaces are carefully protected from rain, sun on the outside—steam, hot water, moisture on the inside, the surface is sure to go—and go very quickly. Appearances are sometimes very deceiving, and an examination of painted surfaces periodically pays big dividends in repairs and renewals saved.

Ramsey's Floor and Deck Enamel is just what its name implies, an Enamel for either interior or exterior purposes, floors, porch floors, steps and boat decks.

It is the most durable finish possible to produce. Will withstand the most severe wear and tear; not injured by sun, rain, hot or cold water, nor extreme changes of temperature.

Where applied to interior floors it is a sanitary precaution. It provides a hard, glossy non-porous surface which affords no lodging place for dust or germs.

Ramsey's Floor and Deck Enamel has a greater covering capacity than other paints made for floor-covering purposes. Its value should be measured in its covering capacity, and the term of service that it gives, not in the price.

Ramsey's Floor and Deck Enamel dries hard overnight, remains hard, works easily without showing laps, yet sets so quickly as to reduce to a minimum the danger of dust and moisture.
